Oil companies' profits skyrocket

NEW YORK (AP) - Exxon Corp., the nation's largest oil company, said today its profits for the last three months are 39 per cent above levels reported a year ago.

The giant oil company said it made $708 million in the three months ended March 31, compared with $508 million reported last year. It noted however that the latest gain was down 10.4 per cent from the last quarter of 1973, when Exxon earned $787 million.

Exxon's earnings follow by a day announcements by Gulf Oil and Standard Oil of Indiana - Amoco-both of which reported first quarter profits more than 75 per cent above the yearearlier period. Exxon said sales for the three months totaled $9.95 billion, compared with $6.24 billion for the same period in 1973. On a per share basis, the company said it earned $3.15 a share versus $2.27 a

Commenting on the firm's performance, Exxon Chairman J.K. Jamieson cited an $80 million profit resulting from the sale or appreciation of oil inventories. These inventories increased in value as the price of replacing them rose as well. Jamieson said the inventory profits were "not

Exxon spokesman said, "We haven't busted that out yet."

Exxon's earnings are also based on an estimate of the cost of oil bought from the Middle Eastern producing nations. Agreements covering these prices are currently in negotiation.

"Until these matters are settled, the costs of Middle East oil are being accrued on the basis of our best judgment as to the likely resolution of the uncertainties." Jamieson said. The company did not indicate the estimated cost of that oil.

Gulf and Standard of Indiana (Amoco) attributed their increased earnings to overseas operations.

Gulf, one of the top five companies in oil sales, reported earnings of $290 million, or $1.49 per share of common stock, for the first three months of 1974. This was 76 per cent above the $165 million or 80 cents a share earned in the corresponding period last year.

Standard Oil of Indiana, ranked in the top 10 according to sales, announced profits of $219 million, 81 per cent ahead of the $121.1 million reported in the first quarter of last year. On a per share basis, Amoco earned $3.13 in the first quarter of 1974, up from $1.74 per share last year.

In overall revenues, Gulf said its sales rose to $4.52 billion, compared to $2.1 billion for the first quarter of 1973, while Amoco's revenues rose to $2.28 billion from $1.47 billion.

Meanwhile, Ashland Oil, a smaller firm, said Monday its profits for the quarter were $19.4 million, or 75 cents a share, 22 per cent above the level one

28 Americans aboard doomed plane

Pacific crash kills 107

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) - All 107 persons aboard a Pan American 707 etliner that crashed on the island of Bali are feared dead, the Indonesian Department of Communications announced today.

The airline said 28 of those aboard vere Americans.

"The aircraft was burned and there was no sign of any survivors," the communications department said. Communications Minister Emil Salim had told newsmen earlier there were some survivors.

Salim said two search and rescue teams were sent to the crash site at Gragak village, about 40 miles from Denpasar, immediately after the plane came down Monday night. A Pan American spokesman in Jakarta said the searchers had found the charred wreckage of the airliner and there appeared to be a possibility of sur-

Earlier, a policeman on Bali, an Indonesian island off the eastern tip of the island of Java, reported by telephone to a newsman in San Francisco that all aboard the plane were dead.

It was the fourth crash of a Pan Am 707 since last July. Three of them have been in the South Pacific.

Americans on board included the pilot, Capt. Donald B. Zinke, 52, of Monte Sereno, Calif., the 10 other crew members and 17 of the 96 passengers.

Agnew book moneymaker

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew already has been assured of more than $300,000 for his novel and could get more than $1 million, his agent said Monday.

And, the agent, Scott Meredith, said Agnew is committed by contract to visit England for five days to promote the novel, "A Very Special Relationship," on its publication there by W.H.

Meredith said the visit could come as rly as next January or February if Agnew completes the book by September as he hopes to, or as late as May if Agnew writes up to his contractual deadline in December. Meredith has periodically issued reports on new contracts for the book, always giving general rather than exact figures on the amount Agnew would receive. In addition to the British contract, he said contracts had been signed for Japanese publication by Hayakawa Shobo, Portugese publication by Moraes, Greek publication by Labrakis Press and Flemish serialization by the Brussels newspaper De Post. He said Spanish, Brazilian and French offers had been turned down, but that he anticipated signing 20 more foreign contracts. Movie rights have not been sold.

White said Goldie's assailant apparently had been waiting for the victim, and shot him four times at close range after he had entered the car.

Nixon wins tapes delay

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon has asked for and been granted a five day extension in responding to a House Judiciary subpoena for White House tapes, a spokesman said today.

A high level administration official said committee chairman Peter. Rodino, D-N.J., agreed to a White House request that the subpoena deadline be set for next Tuesday instead of this Thursday.

According to close Nixon advisers, the President still has not finally decided the form or content of a response to the subpoena for 42 tape recorded conversations he held with since-departed aides.

One official said that White House representatives told he committee staff that it was a "very time consuming job to compile and prepare material" for the answer.

This was an apparent reference to the transcription of the tape recordings, which one source said was made more difficult because portions of the conversations are virtually inaudible.

This official also said Nixon "wanted to take additional time to review the response to the committee and that because of his schedule such a review could not be completed by Thursday.

"The President wants to deal with this matter in a cooperative and reasonable way. He does not seek a confrontation," the official said.

It was nonetheless clear that Nixon was considering ways to blunt what one official called "escalating requests on all fronts" for more tapes of presidential conversations.

This official said that while Nixon has not decided precisely how to proceed, he still plans "a comprehensive statement, a comprehensive response' to the subpoena.

However, interviews with several Nixon advisers disclosed that highlevel unhappiness is growing with each new subpoena or request for White House tapes.

Indications are that Nixon himself let his anger show when the Judiciary Committee formally requested more tapes beyond the 42 conversations it has subpoenaed for its impeachment

And, inside top White House councils, there are increasingly bitter complaints about special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski's quest for White House tapes and documents.

One official contended that "we were misled by Jaworski" during negotiations in the months preceding Nixon and four of his former top aides.

the prosecutor's recent subpoena for 64 taped presidential conversations.

The official responded "no" when asked whether Nixon was considering firing Jaworski.

It is unclear how the high-level unhappiness might be translated into White House action. But it is known that Nixon and his closest advisers have been debating ways to counter the expanding requests while providing the 'comprehensive response' to the House subpoena.

"We don't want to move to a point of confrontation.... But the question is, do you ever satisfy their curiosity," said one official. "It's gone from nine tapes to 19 tapes to 42 tapes, and now, even before we answer, they ... want more.'

This official, who often mirrors Nixon's views, spoke heatedly of "the numbers game" he said was being played by investigators and contended was an effort to "create impeachment momentum."

The White House clearly intends to deal with the House committee subpoena before turning to Jaworski's court-supported demand for tape recordings and other documents related to 64 conversations between

Ford urges Nixon cooperation

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says President Nixon might have tried harder to get the story of Watergate out sooner and that he should cooperate as fully as possible to clear it up now.

Ford, in remarks here Monday, called on Nixon to turn over within 48 to 72 hours all relevant material sought by the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment probe.

A committee subpoena for tapes and documents covering 42 Watergate related White House conversations has a 10 a.m. Thursday deadline.

In a question-and-answer session at the annual meeting of The Associated Press, Ford was asked whether he thought Watergate and its coverup could have occurred without his knowledge if he had been president at the time.

"It's pretty hard to put yourself back into the shoes of somebody else in a situation like that," Ford told 1,300 newspaper and broadcast industry leaders. "I do read the papers ... very extensively. I couldn't have been oblivious to some of the things that were going on, that had taken place or transpired.

"It would be my technique if I were in those shoes — which I hope and trust does not take place — to want to find out as quickly as possible," Ford said. "I assume that the President did. In fact, I have good reason to believe that

"Unfortunately," Ford added, "some of the people who should have known obviously did not give him the full story.

"Now whether there should have been a more vigorous prosecution of all the details, that's a matter of judgment," he said. "And in my case, I think I would have tried to nudge some of my employes about as hard as I possibly could."

Ford said Nixon knew nothing in advance about the burglary and bugging of Democratic party headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex during the 1972 presidential campaign.

The Vice President also said he was confident Nixon had not committed any impeachable offense under the Constitution. But he urged Nixon to make every effort to settle the issue once and

'I hope and trust that some time in the next 48 or 72 hours, the White House will cooperate to the maximum in making available to the House Committee on the Judiciary the relevant material that he committee has requested," Ford said. Ford drew applause from his audience when he said, "I strongly believe that to be the right course of sales in New York on Monday. Glenn denies use of political 'dirty tricks'

By The Associated Press

John Glenn's campaign director said Monday a "dirty tricks" charge leveled against the Democratic senatorial candidate was a dirty trick.

"This slanderous attack on John Glenn is a vicious smear engineered by our political enemies," Stephen Kovacik charged. He said Citizens for John Glenn, which he heads, will file a complaint with the Fair Campaign Practices Committee. Ironically, Kovacik was responding to charges brought by two Glenn campaign workers who resigned over what they called "slanderous literature" put out against the former astronaut's primary election opponent,

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum. The two, Don Hanni Jr. and George

Skaljac, Glenn's campaign chairman and campaign coordinator, respectively, for Mahoning County, also sent a letter to the House Elections Committee asking an investigation of Glenn's campaign practices.

They accused Glenn of distributing a bumper sticker linking Metzenbaum to President Nixon and his tax problems and a "red herring" letter saying the senator had a record of associating with red front groups.

'Out campaign staff had absolutely nothing to do with the circulation of 'dirty trick' bumper stickers or scurrilous literature," Kovacik said.

Meanwhile, Glenn, campaigning in Columbus, threatened to also file an unfair campaign practices complaint against Metzenbaum for continued use of "shrill and untrue" radio commercials accusing him of refusing to debate Metzenbaum. 'More than one week ago I accepted three debates with my opponent,' Glenn said, yet the commercials

"continue to ride the air waves." Glenn planned to campaign today in Cincinnati, Columbus and Ravenna, while Metzenbaum scheduled stops in Cleveland and Toledo.

Metzenbaum said Monday he would spend most of the remaining time before the May 7 primary campaigning in Ohio for the Democratic Senate nom-of the roll call votes since he was appointed to fill the Senate seat vacated by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe.

Both candidates submitted financial statements Monday. The statements show Metzenbaum spent more than twice as much as Glenn on the campaign from March 1 to April 15. Metzenbaum's statement showed his campaign was in the black while Glenn's was not.

Court of appeals reopens company

SILVER BAY, Minn. (AP) - The 3,100 employes of Reserve Mining Co. began rushing back to their jobs early today, saved from the unemployment rolls by a temporary court order which puts the iron ore manufacturer back in

The order was issued late Monday night in Springfield, Mo., by a threejudge panel of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The panel stayed a lower court ruling which ordered Reserve shut down until May 15, when it said the full circuit court would hold a hearing to determine whether to allow the company to continue operating while a full appeal is heard.

The Saturday ruling by U.S. District Judge Miles Lord in Minneapolis ordered Reserve's huge iron ore processing plant at Silver Bay shut down at 12:01 a.m. Sunday because of pollution into Lake Superior Reserve, which is owned jointly by the Republic and Armco steel companies and produces 15 per cent of the iron ore used in the nation's steelmaking blast furnaces, also closed its taconite mine at Babbitt, 47 miles inland from here, at 12:01 a.m. Sunday. And suddenly 3,100 persons were out of work and the two small towns faced the prospect of becoming little more than welfare centers

First to arrive at the plant were foremen and superintendents to prepare it for production. Company officials said they expected operations to be back to normal before the day is out. And critics said that meant the company would again be pouring 67,000 tons of rock wastes a day into Lake

Lord's ruling said asbestos fibers which allegedly come from that pollution were endangering the health of five northeastern Minnesota and Wisconsin communities which draw their drinking water from the lake.

Mansfield joins supporters

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has joined a growing number of Congress members supporting a substantial tax cut to help Americans hard hit by spiralling inflation. However, Chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board said Monday he opposes a tax cut. Rather, the board plans to use money and interest policies to fight inflation, even though such policies could hurt the home building industry, Burns said.

Mansfield, noting increasing support for a tax cut among legislators and economists, said, "This is something we can do for the average working stiff who's carrying the load in this country.'

Inflation is running at a rate of more than 10 per cent annually, according to government statistics.

Mansfield said the revenue lost through a tax cut could be made up by closing tax loopholes and by reducing spending for defense, foreign aid and

Democratic governors study 1976

CHICAGO (AP) — If Democrats are to regain the White House in 1976, they must do more than simply rely on political fallout from Watergate.

That was the message given to 15 Democratic governors who met here Sunday and Monday.

Absent from consideration in closed business sessions during the final day of the Democratic Governors Conference were resolutions relating specifically to Watergate, and discussion about Watergate was generally lacking, said some of those who attended. Democratic national chairman Robert S. Strauss and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn. — the two featured speakers - sounded similiar themes: Watergate should help Democrats in November's congressional elections, but a sure-fire program must be formulated on which to run a successful presidential candidate in 1976.

"To put it bluntly, 1974 and 1975 are years of decision and years of op-portunity for the Democrats," said Humphrey. He said he was hopeful of big congressional wins in November and possibly a Democratic-controlled, "veto-proof" Congress.

newsmen he does not think there is going to be a tax cut this year. But he added that one might be justified if necessary to head off a recession. Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., a senior member of the Senate Finance Committee, said Congress ought to be talking about balancing the budget instead of cutting taxes.

'Let's deal with the cause of inflation and not fool the American people with talk about a tax cut," Curtis said.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., also have urged a tax reduction.

In the House, Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the powerful Ways and Means Committee have indicated they would support such a move unless there is a marked upturn in the economy soon. Burns did not elaborate on his opposition to a tax cut. However, administration spokesmen have said that a tax reduction would be inflationary and would not have any immediate effect on the economy.

Johnson announced his resignation plans on Monday after President Nixon's chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. met with congressional veterans affairs committee leaders and later with Johnson.

Johnson said he had enjoyed his five years "of dedicated service" to the veterans and considered that his administration achieved a great record. But critics frequently charged his administration was - as one put it one of "frustrating inefficiency and bureaucratic bungling.'

charge of murder

TROY, Mich. (AP) - Two prison farm escapees who allegedly wove a trail of terror and death across two states will face murder charges in the slaying of a Troy policeman first, authorities say.

Joseph A. Molinare, 29, and Gordon L. Stockenauer, 26, were ordered held without bond Monday after their arraignment on first-degree murder charges in the shooting death of Patrolman Martin Chivas. Conviction would bring a mandatory life sentence.

They also are charged with murdering a Wisconsin housewife and are wanted for questioning in the death of a 17-year-old service station attendant. Troy Police Cpl. Thomas Morris said that in statements given officers after their arrest, Molinare and Stockenauer "admitted to all the crimes they've been accused of."

Continued demand for petroleum and higher crude prices are the principle reasons for the higher profits, analysts

William Walker, general counsel for the Federal Energy Office, said the sharp increase in crude oil oil costs has given the oil companies a substantial increase in inventory profits, which are accounting changes which result from goods increasing in value while in stor-

Stock prices slip lower

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market slipped lower across a broad front today, weighed down by fears of increasingly tight money in the months

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.99 at 854.58, and losers swamped gainers by about 7 to 2 on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

Brokers said the declines reflected uneasiness on Wall Street over the Federal Reserve Board's avowed intention to pursue a relatively restrictive monetary policy.

Sanders Assocites was the Big Board's most-active issue, down 11/2 at 4. A 195,000-share block was traded at that price. On the American Stock Exchange,

By The Associated Press Quite cold air is continuing to flow southeastward into Ohio, bringing chilly temperatures and even a freeze warning for the northwest inland zone

Light showers are forecast for northeast Ohio today and the national weather service said this may become mixed with or change to snow flurries later today and tonight. Early morning temperatures Tuesday were in the 40s. High temperatures today are forecast in the 40s north and in the 50s and low 60s south. Lows tonight are expected to drop to the upper 20s northwest to the upper 30s southeast.

Clearing skies appear likely Wednesday but temperatures will continue on the cool side.

A warming trend is forecast Thursday through Saturday. Thursday will be fair with highs in the upper 50s and 60s and lows in the 30s. There will be a chance of thundershowers Friday and Saturday with highs in the 70s and lows in the 50s.

Rail increase requested

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's railroads say "an urgent need for additional revenue" is prompting them to request permission for a 10 per cent

hike in freight rates. In a petition Monday to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the industry warned that some major rail carriers "are in immediate danger of ceasing operations because of lack of cash."

While reliance on railroads for freight transportation is increasing, the industry told the ICC, resources to meet that demand "are grossly insufficient."

The railroads said the requested 10 per cent increase, plus a 1 per cent rate hike still pending for eastern and western regions, would produce about $1.6 billion annually.

Of this total, $932 million would be needed to offset increased expenses, taxes and rents, leaving a net increase of $668 million in operating income. According to the railroads, the boost in net income would result in an industrywide rate of return of 5.27 per cent, less than what the ICC said in a 1971 rate case was an adequate level of earnings. The petition to the ICC said current net earnings "are favorable only in comparison with the deeply depressed levels of other recent years and are significantly lower than the levels of 20

TV fires under study by panel

WASHINGTON (AP) - A New Jersey man whose family was killed in a house fire urged the government today to move with "all deliberate speed" to protect others from television sets that can burn, fatally shock people or explode.

Peter B. Young, who was critically burned in a blaze that claimed his wife, 20-month-old daughter and mother-inlaw, was the lead-off witness at a twoday public hearing before the U.S.

New SLA messages treated as real

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The FBI says it "can't take the chance" that the two latest messages purported to be from the Symbionese Liberation Army are not authentic.

The FBI said it will assume the messages are real because they threaten to kill policemen if SLA members are harmed and because the life of newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst may still be in danger.

The messages, signed by a "General Pax," do not reflect the usual pattern of the terrorist group. They were received Monday by the Sacramento Bee, and said five California peace officers would be executed for any SLA member killed.

The SLA, a group which authorities believe is multiracial, heavily armed and numbers about 25 young men and women, claims responsibility for the Feb. 4 kidnaping of Miss Hearst.

Truckers' use of radios poses problems for FCC

name for police. The states want the FCC to crack down on the truckers, creating a dilemma for the federal agency, which can monitor the conversations.

The problem is that it is illegal to divulge information learned in an intercepted radio message, so the FCC isn't sure it can tell state troopers what the truckers are doing.

And the question also has come up whether the state police themselves can monitor the truckers.

The answer may be in a recent decision by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Arizona. It ruled that as a result of the 1968 Crime Control and Safe Streets Act, the Communications Act's prohibition against divulging intercepted conversations does not apply to law enforcement officers.

Citizens band radio, usually called "CB," is reserved for necessary conversation to give all users a chance. The chitchat allowed "ham" amateur operators on other bands is forbidden by the FCC.

James C. McKinney, who heads the FCC's field monitoring, said while there is misuse of the radios by some truckers, there are many truckers who use their radios commendably to help others. They pass the word about shutdown and unsafe roads, report accidents and help motorists.

One misuse noted was by prostitutes in Ohio who pulled alongside truckers and broadcast on their frequency: "What you see is what you get

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan planned to sign a long awaited bill revising Ohio's campaign financing laws today but it won't apply in time for the May 7 primary election. It was one of two major bills that emerged from the legislature April 4 before the lawmakers went into recess-after months of negotiations.

The other, a measure establishing a five-member State Energy Commission to gather information about the energy problem, was signed by Gilligan Monday.

It becomes effective July 22, and the campaign bill a day later. Both measures were submitted to the legislature with immediately effective emergency clauses, but the clauses were lost in the scuffle and both passed as regular 90-day bills.

Gilligan applauded the energy bill, which also sets up an 18-member Energy Advisory Council, as a document that will assure that Ohioans "will have a workable plan of preparedness in the event an energy emergency strikes our state.

The five-member commission will be made up of the governor as chairman, two members of each major political party representing the legislature, and two members named by the governor with the consent of the Senate. The latter will represent the public and the energy industry.

Gilligan said "the major responsibility of the new energy commission will be to collect and assess energy information and prepare a plan

Manhunt for Zebra killer goes on

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Despite mounting protests and court challenges, police are continuing their stop-and-search of young blacks in their hunt for the Zebra killer.

More than 435 black men have been stopped since the systematic street questioning began last Wednesday. Police Lt. William O'Connor said Monday. He said police plan to call in 125 reservists to replace desk officers needed for "Operation Zebra," the code-name police have given the case.

About 250 demonstrators, mostly young whites, picketed city hall Monday evening protesting the searches authorized by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. The noisy crowd taunted Alioto as he emerged from the building and pounded his car with their fists.

At noon, about 40 picketers from the Committee Against Racism, a campusbased group, marched in front of city hall chanting "Operation Zebra Must Alioto has defended the dragnet as an extraordinary measure needed to catch "a mad killer." Since last November, 12 whites have been killed and six wounded by a black gunman or gunmen. All were shot apparently without warning or motive.

The American Civil Liberties Union filed a class action suit against city officials Monday on behalf of six young black men, asking a federal court judge to halt the questioning.

City officials also have been called to appear in U.S. District Court Wednesday to answer another suit filed by the NAACP seeking to stop the searches on constitutional grounds.

Police say they are stopping only those blacks who fit descriptions of the Zebra killer given to them by the surviving victims and that most of those stopped have been understanding and cooperative.

But black leaders have denounced the manhunt as harassment, and the NAACP says it has hundreds of complaints from men subjected to the procedure, many of whom claim they bear no resemblance to the killer's

Opinion And Comment

A question of definition

For many years the Supreme Court has been engaged in an effort to reconcile the First Amendment and proscription of so-called obscenity. The heart of the problem is a matter of definition.

Sometimes, reviewing the court's long struggle with this problem, one gets a vision of dim Herculean figures wrestling endlessly against an opponent that is both strong and slippery

Yet for all their wrestling the justices have not yet succeeded in satisfactorily defining obscenity or resolving the legal tension between attempted obscenity control and rights of free expression.

The issue is before the court again. Oral arguments have just been heard in two cases growing out of a series of close decisions last June in which the earlier concept of a national obscenity strandard was abandoned in favor of community standards.

The difficulty, as many observers foresaw when those rulings were handed down, is that the court left vague and unresolved the matter of what constitutes a "community" for this purpose, not to mention how supposed community standards are to be arrived at.

One of the two cases now before the court involves the banning of the motion picture, "Carnal Knowledge," in Albany, Ga., on the basis of supposed community standards there. The ban came at a time when this picture - rated "R," incidentally - had already been viewed by a multitude of Americans elsewhere

The other case raises a tricky question left undecided in last June's decisions. In essence the question is: In applying the federal law against mailing "obscene" material, what obscenity standards are to be used? Neither of these cases precisely requires a new definition of obscenity for legal purposes; each is mainly concerned with the matter of the standards against which a book or movie or some other form of expression is to be measured.

Still, the root problem continues to be one of definition. It will be interesting to see whether, this time around, the Supreme Court will again address itself to this perplexing question.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Another Balkan war?

In terms of the Wilsonian ideal of ethnic self-determination, Yugoslavia was from the outset in 1918 an ethnographer's nightmare. Basically it consisted of the former independent kingdoms of Serbia and Montenegro and the former Austro-Hungarian provinces of Slovenia and Croatia.

To make life more diverse there were also a significant number of Hungarians, Albanians and Vlachs. If you took a different slice, you discovered Moslems, Roman Catholics and Greek Catholics of several disputatious rites.

You also found both the Roman and the Cyrillie alphabets.

Although theoretically united, there was perpetual bickering between the national groups, led by the Croats and Slovenians who were convinced that they were supporting a welfare program for the less-advanced Serbs. It was commonly stated that King Alexander was the only "Yugoslav."

Well, the situation hasn't changed much under the impact of Communism. The Slovenes and the Croats still hate the Serbs (indeed, the Croatian Communist Party was just "petty bourgeois chauvinists").

Communist Bulgaria has never given up hope of incorporating Yugoslav Macedonia, and the Maoite outpost, Albania, has plans for the Yugoslav Albanians.

It is now commonly stated that Josef Broz Tito is the only "Yugoslav."

AND MARSHALL TITO is 82 years old and allegedly suffering from a terminal illness. What can we expect when he dies?

Immediately you raise that question, the issue of Soviet intentions enters the picture. Specifically, does the "Brezhnev Doctrine," which asserts the Soviet prerogative of maintaining Communist purity in the satellite states, apply to Yugoslavia?

Tito has been trying to get Brezhnev to flatly repudiate it, but the latter has been characteristically cagey. Moreover, Tito — who managed to escape the Moscow purges of the Stalin era - is far too wily to believe anything the Soviet boss might say.

He is, for example, well aware of the standard Soviet gambit, which is known to experts as the "Karelian

In 1939, when Russia invaded Finland, a group of Finnish Communists - who had been kept on ice in Moscow - suddenly appeared in the Karelian border region, announced they were the legitimate government of Finland and asked the Soviets to help them regain power. (The Soviets accepted their invitation, but later put them back on ice.)

This technique was also utilized fruitfully with Poland. But when last employed, in Czechoslovakia, 1968, it

Yet Moscow is persistent and may well be grooming a clutch of Yugoslavs who will call on the Warsaw Pact to prevent the nation from falling into the hands of "reactionaries."

In fact, about a month ago Maj. Gen. Jan Sejna, a Czech defector in 1968, announced in Vienna that the Red Army had a contingency plan, codenamed "Polarka," for dealing with "undesirable developments" in Yugoslavia after Tito's death. The plan contemplated first, an invasion of Austria; second, invading Yugoslavia from there; and, third, employing Czech troops, thus keeping the Soviet Union out of the direct line of respon-they would say in any case), and both Vienna and Belgrade were understandably unsettled.

"POLARKA" sounds fishy to me for the simplest of reasons. Why go from Atlanta to Birmingham via Richmond? The obvious line of attack upon Yugoslavia starts with adjacent Hungary, and if the Soviets want to employ surrogate troops, the Hungarians are there and probably not unwilling to "liberate" their fellow Magyars who have been suffering under Yugoslav revisionist tyranny.

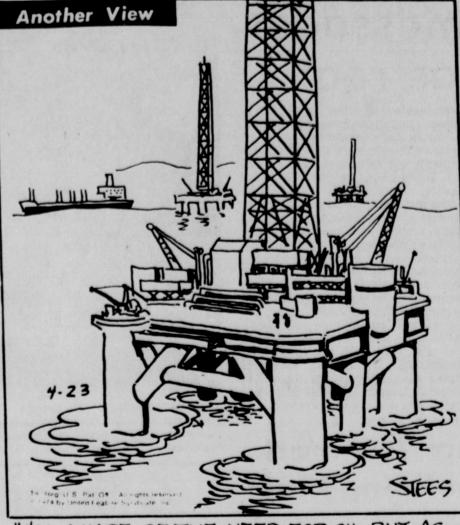

This would have the additional benefit of not automatically involving Britain, France and the United States, who underwrote the 1955 treaty restoring Austrian independence.

In any event, there will be trouble when Tito rejoins his generation. There simply is no Yugoslav elite - instead, there are Serbian, Croatian, Slovenian and, for all I know, Albanian elites.

The only things that hold them together are the charisma of Tito and. not to be neglected, the efficiency of the secret police. Not only is Tito the sole "Yugoslav," but he has completely failed in all efforts to reconcile the various ethnic blocs.

In fact, there is a sense in which one can argue that he trapped himself: after all, if Yugoslavia could raise the banner of "national communism" against the USSR, how could Tito in principle oppose the Croats and Slovenes applying the same thesis to the internal structure of Yugoslavia?

I hope our Secretary of State has time diplomatic circles: the Russians said it to worry about this; Balkan Wars are

I am writing this letter in a desperate appeal for correspondence and friendship, and I am hoping that you will be kind enough to publish it in your daily paper.

Loneliness in a place like this is almost unbearable. It is very much like that of a quiet drama which keeps on building and building, seemingly without an end.

I seek no pity, but rather a more meaningful strength in hope of people eyes to see. I, Robert E. Monroe, am for real, and believe in others who are for real

In closing, I would like to say that I believe, I do really believe, that whenever you can share a smile, a tear, or a thought with a stranger, then you are strangers no longer.

Despite the havoc many of these saw in the destroyed sectors of Xenia, they came to the hospital eager to console and in a most composed manner.

Not enough can be said for the doctors, nurses, and technicians who came from Xenia and the surrounding

I ask myself: "Where does one start giving thanks?" Local churches, schools, law enforcement people, nearby hospitals all deserve more credit than I can deliver. The rescue squads, the private citizens, the funeral homes all helped unceasingly by transporting the injured to the hospitals to insure immediate care.

Civil Defense workers, ham radio operators, the public utilities and volunteer messengers were all so vital to the total delivery of emergency care to the injured. It has been so fortunate that Greene Memorial received such help from so many compassionate neighbors.

Sufficient thanks will never be awarded to these agencies and individuals for their unending compassion for human life that I witnessed on that evening. I also congratulate the magnificent performance of all of those employe working at Greene Memorial who remained on the job not knowing the status of their families or homes.

It's not an experience I, nor anyone involved, wishes to go through again. But, it's a comfortable feeling knowing there are so many individuals and groups who are willing to share the burden of this tragedy which affected so many of our friends.

Onassis-backed firm pushes massive plant

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - Olympic Refineries Inc., a company with $150,000 in known assets, has plans for a $600 million oil refinery — but so far, no place to build it.

After being barred from its firstchoice site by the voters of Durham, N.H., Olympic decided to wait for another town near New Hampshire's 18-mile Atlantic coastline to invite the company in.

Newmarket, just to the south of Durham, voted last week in favor of the refinery, and the company went back to the drawing board to develop a proposal that would fit there. Rochester, inland and to the north, is to vote May 1 on whether to approve refinery construction there.

Olympic is an Aristotle Onassis corporation, although public records don't show the role of the Greek has the support of New Hampshire's governor and largest newspaper, but virtually no information is available about its resources or plans.

There are indications Onassis is determined to build an oil refinery, if not in New Hampshire then perhaps in Rhode Island or Louisiana.

"It's like fighting a phantom," said John Gibson, a spokesman for Save Our Shores, a citizens' group opposing the refinery. "They make statements and deny them the next day. They make promises and break them. Sometimes you don't even know who 'they' are.'

Constantine G. Gratsos, president of Olympic Refineries, is the chief representative of Onassis interests in New York

In a recent telephone interview, Gratsos said Onassis has wanted to build an oil refinery for several years, shipping magnate. The refinery plan that the shipping magnate is sole owner of Olympic Refineries stock and that financial information about the company is not available. Then he hung up.

The first inkling of Olympic's activities came last October when a seacoast community weekly, Publick Occurrences, carried a report that land buying was under way on Durham Point. The story mentioned rumors that an oil refinery was planning to locate on the site. Rep. Devine target of environmentalists

MR. AND MRS. JAY E. COHAGEN

Miss Justice is bride of Jay Edwin Cohagen

Miss Loucreatie Justice, daughter of Mrs. Audrey Justice, Rt. 5, became the bride of Jay Edwin Cohagen, son of Mrs. Vetrice Cohagen, of Johnstown. The Rev. Paul K. Fowler of Circleville performed the marriage ceremony in the Church of Christ in Christian Union.

Baskets of yellow mums graced the altar. Mrs. Kenneth Bonecutter, organist, presented wedding selections. Given in marriage by her brother, John D. Justice, the bride wore a formal length satin and chiffon wedding gown with high neckline trimmed with lace and long full bishop sleeves. The gown had an empire waist and lace madallions with pearls and beads enhanced the skirt with panels of lace down the front. Her illusion veil was elbow length and was caught to a headpiece of lace. She carried a flower arrangement in shape of a cross of red roses with carnations and leather leaf.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Carolyn Cox, who wore a formal length gown of yellow with short puffed sleeves. Floral trim was around the collar and sleeves, and she wore a wide-brimmed matching hat with yellow ribbon and daisies matching green wide-brimmed hat with matching ribbon and white daisies. Each carried a ring bouquet of carnations and baby's breath. Little Billie Marie Cyrus, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, and Chris Cohagen, brother of the groom, was the ring bearer. The flower girl wore a long yellow dress trimmed with white lace at the neckline, sleeves and hemline. She carried a basket of daisies, carnations and red roses

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Hannah Sayre of Johnstown, sister of the groom, and Miss Tina Moore of Bloomingburg. They wore lime green short puffed sleeves. Each wore a residing in Columbus.

Jimmy Justice, brother of the bride, served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Jeff Sayre and Mike Cohagen.

The bride's mother wore a pink and gray dress with a corsage of red carnations and red roses with a gold cross in the center. The groom's mother chose a pink polyester knit frock with which she wore a corsage like the bride's mother.

Hostesses for the reception held in Fellowship Hall were Mrs. Marie Cyrus of Michigan, Mrs. Pauline Short of Kirkersville, Miss Carla Pickell and Miss Verna Jones.

The bride, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, is employed at Super Drug Store in Columbus. Her husband, a Johnstown Monroe High School graduate, is employed by formal length dresses made of knit with Whitehall Auto Parts. They are now

Henley trial slated July 1 in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Elmer Wayne Henley will go on trial here July 1 in the deaths of six of the 27 teen-aged victims of the Texas mass murder

District Court Judge Preston Dial ordered prosecution and defense attorneys to be ready to start jury selection on July 1 and to begin the presentation of testimony on July 8.

The teen-agers were killed in what the state describes as a homosexual torture ring.

In a 20-minute session on Monday, Dial also disposed of nine defense motions. He granted only one.

He refused to move the trial out of San Antonio because of publicity here - the same reason Henley's trial was transferred from Houston. Instead, he said he would try to pick a jury and grant the change of venue only if he were unable to find 12 unprejudiced persons to serve on it.

He also refused to delay the trial because of publicity.

He granted defense lawyer Will Gray's motion to question individually all potential jurors who had heard or read about the case.

No trial date has been set for David Owen Brooks, 19, who is charged with four murders in the case.

The state claims Henley and Brooks procured other teenaged males for parties given by Dean A. Corll, 33, which ended in homosexual rape and

The bodies of 27 victims were found buried at various locations in and around Houston last August.

Henley shot Corll to death after a sex and drug party at Corll's home in the Houston suburb of Pasadena on Aug. 8. The shooting was subsequently ruled self-defense.

By HENRY S. ACKERMAN

Associated Press Writer BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) -American business executives are still leaving Argentina to escape guerrilla kidnapers, and no one has any idea when the exodus will stop.

Ohio Perspective

State cyclists to face new laws

By ROBERT E. MILLER

Associated Press Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans taking up bicycle and motorcycle riding because of the energy crisis almost certainly will face some new traffic laws So would automobile drivers and pedestrians under an omnibus bill which has passed the Ohio House and now is pending in the Senate. House sponsors said there was no way to estimate how many Ohioans may have switched all or in part to motor bike or bicycle use to save gasoline, but they think the number is significant. Rep. Kenneth R. Cox, D-41 Barberton, said bicycles are one of the hottest selling items on the retail market. Cox, who recently bought a bicycle, helped defend provisions in the bill that he said would help make twowheel travel safer than under present

The bill requires bicycle bells or other audible signals that may be heard up to 100 feet. It also requires an adequate brake for all bikes without a motor, or with a friction-type motor of one horsepower or more.

The fine for not having a bell would be $100 for a first offense. A second conviction could bring a $250 fine and up to 30 days in jail.

The bill prohibits bicycles to use streets and highways if a useable bicycle path has been provided. Bicycles would have to have a front white light and a red taillight or reflector, both visible at 500 feet.

Most present laws would continue to apply to motorcycles. New language would prohibit riding sidesaddle, requiring motorcyclists to ride face forward with one leg on either side of the machine.

For the first time the bill spells out in the law the right of motorcyclists on miltilane highways to pass other motorcycles from another lane when both are going in the same direction.

Ironically the changes were put into the bill not because of the energy crisis, but to meet requirements in the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1966 and subsequent standards adopted by the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Failure to comply could mean loss of the state's federal highway safety funds, said Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, the bill's main sponsor.

Although other provisions are numerous they are generally minor in nature. Laws against driving while intoxicated would remain generally intact, as would speed limits and other major code sections with which Ohioans are most familiar.

Several changes affect pedestrians, including one that makes it illegal to walk on a roadway while intoxicated or under the influence of drugs.

Others require pedestrians to yield to any emergency vehicle with a flashing light, even in a crosswalk, and to yield to all vehicles when not in a crosswalk. Still another section makes it illegal for a pedestrian to stand on a street or highway "to solicit employment, business or contributions." This section could affect such fund-raising efforts as Columbus' Charity Newsies and

The bill permits a motorist to enter an intersection with caution on a yellow signal while a traffic light is changing, but the motorist still may not enter an intersection on red.

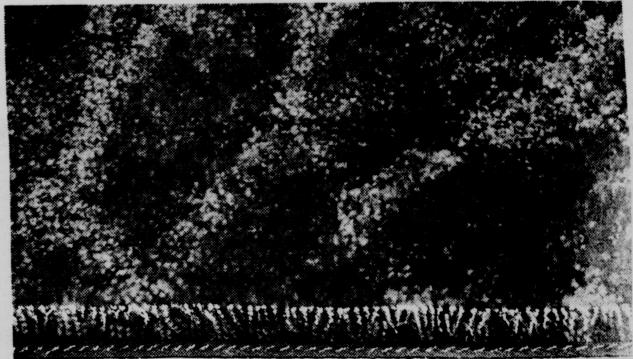

Emergency vehicles using flashing lights have to turn at least one on when exceeding a speed limit in response to an emergency call. School buses equipped with red flasher lights could use them only when stopped or stop-

And, for the first time, the bill would make it illegal for a motorist to leave this ignition keys in his parked vehicle. Under present law police may remove such keys, but the owner is not violating the law.

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)-Jackie Sigman of Lorain is a girl, and she says that's the only reason she didn't make the city's Little League baseball team.

'I think that I did better than some of the boys out there. And I think I'll take it to court," the spunky sixth grader said Monday.

'I don't think we'll go as far as they did in New Jersey and Michigan with lawsuits if Jackie can't play," her mother said. "We couldn't afford to go that far." Program Director Jack Wolf said the only reason Jackie had been allowed to register was to avoid a rumpus. He announced Monday that Jackie hadn't made the team, but didn't say why. "When I went to register, the man kinda didn't know what to do," Jackie

Florida colt looks good for Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP) — "Around the barn we just call him Clyde," Monti Sims said at Churchill Downs, waving his hand toward Destroyer - the big colt he's training for a Kentucky Derby

"That's because he's a big old country horse," Sims said of the Santa Anita Derby winner, a horse that stands about 17 hands (5 feet, 8 inches).

"In the Santa Anita Derby he carved out the pace from the start and held it until the stretch when Aloha Mood moved three-quarters of a length ahead," the trainer said. "My colt dug in, fought back and won by a head."

Hospital personnel TB seminar slated May 2

A seminar for hospital personnel dealing with the admission and treatment of tuberculosis patients will be held May 2 in the Mead Room of the Holliday Inn, Chillicothe.

The seminar is being sponsored by the South Central Ohio Lung Association, serving Fayette Pickaway, Ross, Pike, Jackson and Lawrence counties, and the Ohio Department of Health. The agencies are undertaking a major re-education program for the personnel.

Many specialized TB care facilities are being closed and patients who need hospitalization are now being treated in general hospitals. As a result, more TB training for hospital workers is needed.

Reservations must be made with the South Central Ohio Lung Association, 121 W. Main St., Chillicothe. The registration fee is $3.50 per person, and reservations must be made by Friday.

East took the jack - he could have saved a trick by ducking and returned a spade. Eventually South scored ten tricks consisting of four hearts, two spades, two diamonds and two clubs.

But West could have beaten the contract by playing the queen on the first heart lead. To do so could not cost him a trick. If South had the jack, dummy's five hearts were all tricks, while if East had the jack, the queen play might hold dummy to two tricks.

Declarer could not have recovered from the queen play. Restricted to two tricks in each suit, he inevitably would have failed.

It is true that a defender usually follows low when he is second-hand and rarely plays a high card in order to force a higher one from dummy. But here the queen is clearly the erally a very sound practice, right play. West can easily assume that if he plays low on the first heart lead declarer will

Solons urge normal relations with Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) - Legislation aimed at normalizing relations with Cuba was proposed Monday by Reps. Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Ohio, Joel Pritchard of Washington, and Alphonzo Bell and Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California.

The four congressmen said in a joint statement that the "climate on both sides of the Caribbean Sea today is one leading toward cooperation rather than alienation."

The proposed measure would remove the prohibition against providing economic aid to Cuba and countries that trade with Cuba. However, present restrictions on military assistance would remain.

Now and then we see some photos that have that something

 call it IMPACT — that makes them stand out. The picture stops you cold. Know what I mean? I guess that's one of the rewards of our business. We see these pix, talk to the lensmen that make such pictures and hear their stories. I don't see why anyone would want to be in any other business.

What is it that makes a picture a stopper? I guess it goes back to the photographer, himself; his philosophy, his feeling for the subject. Photos are made by people, not cameras. Now I'll admit that a camera like the PENTAX ES can free the lensman from the mechanical chores of setting exposure dials so that he can give full attention to getting the picture he wants. Take it from me, that's a big help. But the picture is made by the man behind the camera. It's his creation, not the camera's.

Here at the camera shop we get into some profound discussions on photography (and ten thousand other subjects) and out of it all comes many ideas that are most interesting. There's much more to photography than pointing the camera. Delbert Hays once told me that after fifty years of making pictures with a camera, he never shot a roll of film that he didn't learn something.
At CKFN last week we were working toward the 1974 Fayette County Fair photo exhibit. NOW is the time to work on the pix for the fair. The winners will be those photos that have IMPACT. This year your picture may be the winner. But you can't win if you don't enter. Drop in the shop for information.

Oh, yes, speaking of IMPACT, have you seen the photo book from Kodak titled IMPACT!? Drop in, look through it, get some ideas.

Dr. Heiny named to area board

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday appointed a Washington C.H. physician to serve on the five-county Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board.

Dr. Robert A. Heiny, 716 Park Drive, was named to a six-year term on the board which serves Fayette, Highland, Ross, Pickaway and Pike counties.

Dr. Heiny, who maintains his office at 616 Willard Street with Dr. Ralph Gebhart, replaces Dr. James E. Rose, 120 River Rd., whose term has expired.

The board also granted a one-day extension to Charles P. Wagner, Fayette County engineer, for presentation of construction profiles on the Indian Creek ditch project in Wayne Township.

Commissioners were scheduled to meet with Wagner to review the construction profiles Tuesday afternoon.

In other matters, the commissioners authorized O.M. Riegel, director of the Fayette County welfare department, to attend the Ohio Welfare Directors workshop committee meeting being held in Columbus today.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and proposing to enact section 20a of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to equalize the compensation of public officers and members of the General Assembly.

the General Assembly.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, threefifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and a proposal to enact section 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE II

ARTICLE II

Section 20. The General Assembly, in cases not provided for in this constitution, shall fix by law the term of office and the compensation of all public officers; but no change therein shall affect the compensation of any officer during his existing term, unless the office be abolished; provided, however, that if an officer elected to the same office from the same district on taking office receives a greater compensation, such rate of compensation shall thereupon be payable to each of the other officers holding the same office in that district.

An officer who is appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office shall not be entitled to receive more compensation than any elected officer holding the same office in the same district is receiving at the time such appointed officer takes office.

Section 31. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall receive a fixed compensation, to be prescribed by law, and no other allowance or perquisites, either in the payment of postage or otherwise; and no change in their compensation shall take effect during the legislative biennium within which it was made.

Section 20a. Notwithstanding Section 20 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio, any increase in compensation fixed by the General Assembly for any public officer, which, because of its being made during his term of office, does not become payable to such officer until after two years from the date of its enactment, shall nevertheless become effective and payable on and after the effective date of the enactment of such increase in compensation.

SCHEDULE

SCHEDULE

The secretary of state shall place upon the ballot as separate issues the proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and the proposal to enact sections 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of Ohio, so as to permit the electorate to vote separately on each such proposal.

If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendments, at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, adopt the same, they shall become part of the Constitution of the State of Ohio and existing sections 20 and 31 of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio shall be repealed.

ARTICLE XVI

Section 1. Either branch of the general assembly may propose amendments to this constitution; and, if the same shall be agreed to by three-fifths of the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays, and shall be filed with the secretary of state at least ninety days before the date of the election at which they are to be submitted to the electors, for their approval or rejection. They shall be submitted on a separate ballot without party designation of any kind, at either a special or a general election as the general assembly may prescribe.

The ballot language for such proposed amendments shall be prescribed by a majority of the Ohio ballot board consisting of the secretary of state and four other members, who shall be designated in a manner prescribed by law and not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. The ballot language shall properly identify the substance of the proposal to be voted upon. The ballot need not contain the full text nor a condensed text of the proposal. The board shall also prepare an explanation of the proposal, which may include its purpose and effects, and shall certify the ballot language and the explanation to the secretary of state not later than seventy-five days before the election. The ballot language and the explanation shall be available for public inspection in the office of the secretary of state.

The supreme court shall have exclusive, original jurisdiction in all cases challenging the adoption or submission of a proposed constitutional amendment to the electors. No such case challenging the ballot language, the explanation, or the actions or procedures of the general assembly in adopting and submitting a constitutional amendment shall be filed later than sixty-four days before the election. The ballot language shall not be held invalid unless it is such as to mislead, deceive, or defraud the voters.

Unless the general assembly otherwise provides by law for the preparation of arguments for and, if any, against a proposed amendment, the board may prepare such arguments.

Such proposed amendments, the ballot language, the explanations, and the arguments, if any, shall be published once a week for three consecutive weeks preceding such election, in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county of the state, where a newspaper is published. The general assembly shall provide by law for other dissemination of information in order to inform the electors concerning proposed amendments. An election on a proposed constitutional amendment submitted by the general assembly shall provide by such amendments the same shall adopt such amendments the same shall become a part of the constitution. When more than one amendment shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment, separately.

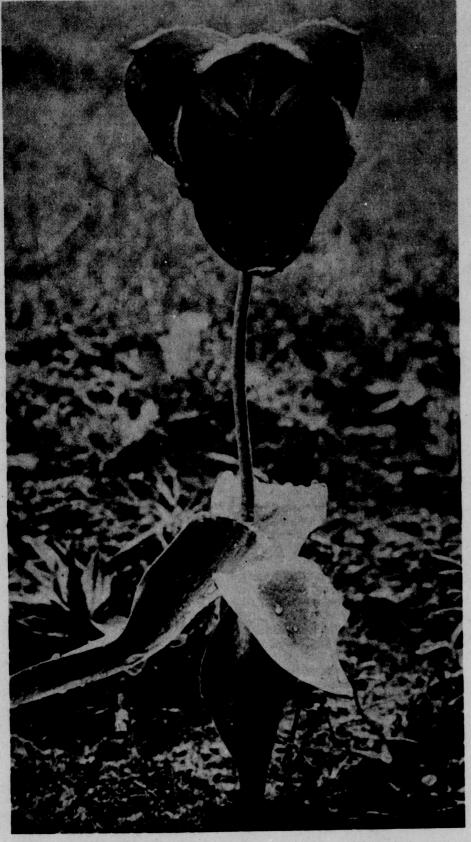

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect and existing Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed.

Oil companies' profits skyrocket

NEW YORK (AP) - Exxon Corp., the nation's largest oil company, said today its profits for the last three months are 39 per cent above levels reported a year ago. The giant oil company said it made $708 million in the three months ended March 31, compared with $508 million reported last year. It noted however that the latest gain was down 10.4 per cent from the last quarter of 1973, when Exxon earned $787 million. Exxon's earnings follow by a day announcements by Gulf Oil and Standard Oil of Indiana - Amoco-both of which reported first quarter profits more than 75 per cent above the yearearlier period. Exxon said sales for the three months totaled $9.95 billion, compared with $6.24 billion for the same period in 1973.

On a per share basis, the company said it earned $3.15 a share versus $2.27 a share. Commenting on the firm's performance, Exxon Chairman J.K. Jamieson cited an $80 million profit resulting from the sale or appreciation of oil inventories. These inventories increased in value as the price of replacing them rose as well. Jamieson said the inventory profits were "not expected to recur.

The Exxon chairman also said earnings had been reduced based on the estimated affect of a tax bill now before the U.S. Congress. The bill would be retroactive to Jan. 1 and would affect only foreign earnings, Jamieson said.

Asked how much taxes had been deducted from the gross earnings, an

Exxon spokesman said, "We haven't busted that out yet."

Exxon's earnings are also based on an estimate of the cost of oil bought from the Middle Eastern producing nations. Agreements covering these prices are currently in negotiation.

"Until these matters are settled, the costs of Middle East oil are being accrued on the basis of our best judgment as to the likely resolution of the uncertainties," Jamieson said. The company did not indicate the estimated cost of that oil.

Gulf and Standard of Indiana (Amoco) attributed their increased earnings to overseas operations.

Gulf, one of the top five companies in oil sales, reported earnings of $290 million, or $1.49 per share of common stock, for the first three months of 1974. This was 76 per cent above the $165 million or 80 cents a share earned in the corresponding period last year.

Standard Oil of Indiana, ranked in the top 10 according to sales, announced profits of $219 million, 81 per cent ahead of the $121.1 million reported in the first quarter of last year. On a per share basis, Amoco earned $3.13 in the first quarter of 1974, up from $1.74 per share last year.

In overall revenues, Gulf said its sales rose to $4.52 billion, compared to $2.1 billion for the first quarter of 1973, while Amoco's revenues rose to $2.28 billion from $1.47 billion.

Meanwhile, Ashland Oil, a smaller firm, said Monday its profits for the quarter were $19.4 million, or 75 cents a share, 22 per cent above the level one

'Town Meeting' May 2 may grow into series

The Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce today announced plans for an old-fashioned town meeting.

According to Chamber of Commerce President Fred L. Domenico, the first in a possible series of town meeting sessions will be held for residents of the city's Third Ward at Belle Aire Elementary School at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 2.

Leroy Barton and Robert Lutz, responsible for the Chamber of Commerce's public relations task force, explained the town meeting session as a means of allowing area residents to become better informed about items of local interest and a chance for business and related groups to show their respect of the populous.

FOLLOWING are the agencies and panelists scheduled to appear at the May 2 town meeting:

Government, City Manager Dan Wolford, representatives from the Washington C.H. police and fire departments are also scheduled to be citizenry and their needs.

in attendance; business, Darrell Clark. owner of Clark's Cardinal Store on W. Elm Street; industry, Paul Johnson, representing the Armco Steel Corp.'s Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H.; education, Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of Washington C.H. city schools, and media, Robert Rochester, editor of The Record-

Chamber President Domenico will serve as the panel moderator and will field questions from the audience. An opportunity for those in the audience wishing to submit written questions will be provided.

Chamber officials state that those in attendance are encouraged to ask questions regarding any of the agencies and their services. In this respect, it is hoped that residents of the city's Third Ward will come away from the meeting better informed about their community and that the agencies involved will become more cognizant of the local

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) - All 107 persons aboard a Pan American 707 etliner that crashed on the island of Bali are feared dead, the Indonesian Department of Communications announced today. The airline said 28 of those aboard were Americans.

"The aircraft was burned and there was no sign of any survivors," the communications department said.

Communications Minister Emil Salim had told newsmen earlier there were some survivors.

Salim said two search and rescue teams were sent to the crash site at Gragak village, about 40 miles from Denpasar, immediately after the plane came down Monday night. A Pan American spokesman in Jakarta said the searchers had found the charred wreckage of the airliner and there appeared to be a possibility of survivors.

Earlier, a policeman on Bali, an Indonesian island off the eastern tip of the island of Java, reported by telephone to a newsman in San Francisco that all aboard the plane were dead.

It was the fourth crash of a Pan Am 707 since last July. Three of them have been in the South Pacific.

Americans on board included the pilot, Capt. Donald B. Zinke, 52, of Monte Sereno, Calif., the 10 other crew members and 17 of the 96 passengers.

Agnew book moneymaker

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew already has been assured of more than $300,000 for his novel and could get more than $1 million, his agent said Monday.

And, the agent, Scott Meredith, said Agnew is committed by contract to visit England for five days to promote the novel, "A Very Special Relationship," on its publication there by W.H. Allen Ltd.

Meredith said the visit could come as early as next January or February if Agnew completes the book by September as he hopes to, or as late as May if Agnew writes up to his contractual deadline in December.

Meredith has periodically issued reports on new contracts for the book, always giving general rather than exact figures on the amount Agnew would receive.

In addition to the British contract, he said contracts had been signed for Japanese publication by Hayakawa Shobo, Portugese publication by Moraes, Greek publication by Labrakis Press and Flemish serialization by the Brussels newspaper De Post.

He said Spanish, Brazilian and French offers had been turned down. but that he anticipated signing 20 more foreign contracts. Movie rights have not been sold.

Probe slaying at Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) - Police investigated today the shooting death of Randall Blair Goldie, 23, of Martinsville, in a restaurant parking lot

Police Chief Thomas White said Goldie's body was discovered in the front seat of his car late Monday. The chief said he had been shot in the head.

White said Goldie's assailant apparently had been waiting for the victim, and shot him four times at close range after he had entered the car.

Dollar dips sharply on money markets

Nixon wins tapes delay

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon has asked for and been granted a five day extension in responding to a House Judiciary subpoena for White House tapes, a spokesman said today.

The plane was en route from Hong Kong to Bali and Sydney, Australia,

when it crashed. According to a passenger list furnished by Pan

A high level administration official said committee chairman Peter. Rodino, D-N.J., agreed to a White House request that the subpoena deadline be set for next Tuesday instead of this Thursday.

According to close Nixon advisers, the President still has not finally decided the form or content of a response to the subpoena for 42 tape recorded conversations he held with since-departed aides.

One official said that White House representatives told he committee staff that it was a "very time consuming job to compile and prepare material" for the answer.

This was an apparent reference to the transcription of the tape recordings, which one source said was made more difficult because portions of the conversations are virtually inaudible. This official also said Nixon "wanted to take additional time to review the response to the committee and that because of his schedule such a review could not be completed by Thursday.

"The President wants to deal with this matter in a cooperative and reasonable way. He does not seek a confrontation," the official said.

It was nonetheless clear that Nixon was considering ways to blunt what one official called "escalating requests on all fronts" for more tapes of presidential conversations.

This official said that while Nixon has not decided precisely how to proceed, he still plans "a comprehensive statement, a comprehensive response' to the subpoena.

However, interviews with several Nixon advisers disclosed that highlevel unhappiness is growing with each new subpoena or request for White

Indications are that Nixon himself let his anger show when the Judiciary Committee formally requested more tapes beyond the 42 conversations it has subpoenaed for its impeachment And, inside top White House councils, there are increasingly bitter complaints about special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski's quest for White House tapes and documents.

One official contended that "we were misled by Jaworski" during the prosecutor's recent subpoena for 64 taped presidential conversations.

The official responded "no" when asked whether Nixon was considering firing Jaworski.

It is unclear how the high-level unhappiness might be translated into White House action. But it is known that Nixon and his closest advisers have been debating ways to counter the expanding requests while providing the 'comprehensive response' to the House subpoena.

'We don't want to move to a point of confrontation.... But the question is, do you ever satisfy their curiosity," said one official. "It's gone from nine tapes to 19 tapes to 42 tapes, and now, even before we answer, they ... want more."

This official, who often mirrors Nixon's views, spoke heatedly of "the numbers game" he said was being played by investigators and contended it was an effort to "create impeachment momentum."

The White House clearly intends to deal with the House committee subpoena before turning to Jaworski's court-supported demand for tape recordings and other documents related to 64 conversations between negotiations in the months preceding Nixon and four of his former top aides.

Ford urges Nixon cooperation

NEW YORK (AP) - Vice President every effort to settle the issue once and Gerald R. Ford says President Nixon might have tried harder to get the story of Watergate out sooner and that he should cooperate as fully as possible to now.

Ford, in remarks here Monday, called on Nixon to turn over within 48 to 72 hours all relevant material sought by the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment probe.

A committee subpoena for tapes and documents covering 42 Watergate related White House conversations has a 10 a.m. Thursday deadline.

In a question-and-answer session at the annual meeting of The Associated Press. Ford was asked whether he thought Watergate and its coverup could have occurred without his knowledge if he had been president at the time.

"It's pretty hard to put yourself back into the shoes of somebody else in a situation like that," Ford told 1,300 newspaper and broadcast industry leaders. "I do read the papers ... very extensively. I couldn't have been oblivious to some of the things that were going on, that had taken place or transpired.

"It would be my technique if I were in those shoes - which I hope and trust does not take place — to want to find out as quickly as possible," Ford said. "I assume that the President did. In fact, I have good reason to believe that he did.

"Unfortunately," Ford added, "some of the people who should have known obviously did not give him the full

"Now whether there should have been a more vigorous prosecution of all the details, that's a matter of judgment," he said. "And in my case, I think I would have tried to nudge some of my employes about as hard as I possibly could."

Ford said Nixon knew nothing in advance about the burglary and bugging of Democratic party headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex during the 1972

"I hope and trust that some time in the next 48 or 72 hours, the White House will cooperate to the maximum in ailable to the House Committee on the Judiciary the relevant material that he committee has requested," Ford said.

Ford drew applause from his audience when he said, "I strongly believe that to be the right course of Ironically, Kovacik was responding to charges brought by two Glenn campaign workers who resigned over what they called "slanderous literature" put out against the former astronaut's primary election opponent, Sen. Howard Metzenbaum.

The two, Don Hanni Jr. and George

Skaljac, Glenn's campaign chairman and campaign coordinator, respectively, for Mahoning County, also sent a letter to the House Elections Committee asking an investigation of Glenn's campaign practices.

They accused Glenn of distributing a bumper sticker linking Metzenbaum to President Nixon and his tax problems and a "red herring" letter saying the senator had a record of associating with red front groups.

"Out campaign staff had absolutely nothing to do with the circulation of 'dirty trick' bumper stickers or scurrilous literature," Kovacik said. Meanwhile, Glenn, campaigning in Columbus, threatened to also file an unfair campaign practices complaint of the roll call votes since he was appointed to fill the Senate seat vacated by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe.

Both candidates submitted financial statements Monday. The statements show Metzenbaum spent more than twice as much as Glenn on the campaign from March 1 to April 15. Metzenbaum's statement showed his campaign was in the black while Glenn's was not.

Court of appeals reopens company

SILVER BAY, Minn. (AP) - The 3,100 employes of Reserve Mining Co. began rushing back to their jobs early today, saved from the unemployment rolls by a temporary court order which puts the iron ore manufacturer back in

The order was issued late Monday night in Springfield, Mo., by a three-judge panel of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The panel stayed a lower court ruling which ordered Reserve shut down until May 15, when it said the full circuit court would hold a hearing to determine whether to allow the company to continue operating while a taconite mine at Babbitt, 47 miles inland from here, at 12:01 a.m. Sunday. And suddenly 3,100 persons were out of work and the two small towns faced the prospect of becoming little more than welfare centers.

First to arrive at the plant were foremen and superintendents to prepare it for production. Company officials said they expected operations to be back to normal before the day is out. And critics said that meant the company would again be pouring 67,000 tons of rock wastes a day into Lake Superior.

Lord's ruling said asbestos fibers which allegedly come from that pollution were endangering the health of five northeastern Minnesota and Wisconsin communities which draw their drinking water from the lake.

The three-judge panel of Donald Ross, Omaha, Neb.; Myron Bright Fargo, N.D., and William Webster, St. Louis, Mo., held an informal session Monday night in a Springfield motel room, where they are attending a legal

Oldsters get exams nearly free

WAUKON, Iowa (AP) - For $1 apiece, some elderly residents of this northeast Iowa farming community may have prolonged their life.

For that paltry sum, more than 200 residents have received complete physical examinations, some of which detected unsuspected ailments.

"So often the doctors and I noticed that a lot of older people are still coming to the hospital in very deplorable physical condition," said the Rev. Arlin Adams, explaining the reason for the low-cost checkups.

"We saw that they had waited too long, and when they came for health care it was too late.'

Pastor Adams, a Lutheran and former administrator of the 42-bed, city-owned Veterans Memorial Hospital, helped establish the program in this community of 4,000.

The examinations at the hospital made possible through "Operation: Health Saving," which combined the town's medical and volunteer resources.

Johnson sets resignation as VA chief

WASHINGTON (AP) - Donald E. Johnson, sharply criticized on both sides of Capitol Hill and by several veterans organizations, plans to resign as head of the Veterans Administration.

But administration sources reject suggestions that he is being fired as administrator of the sprawling agency that provides benefits for 29 million veterans.

One well-placed source said Johnson had planned for more than a year to return to private life when his term expires June 23.

Johnson announced his resignation plans on Monday after President Nixon's chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. met with congressional veterans affairs committee leaders and later with Johnson.

Johnson said he had enjoyed his five years "of dedicated service" to the veterans and considered that his administration achieved a great record. But critics frequently charged his administration was - as one put it one of "frustrating inefficiency and bureaucratic bungling."

There also have been charges that the VA under Johnson had become a "dumping ground" for former Nixon campaigners.

In March, Nixon ordered Johnson to head a management team to study complaints about paperwork snarls and VA hospital conditions.

A national commander of the American Legion in 1964, the 49-year-old Johnson left a successful farm supply business in Iowa to head the President Warren G. Harding's

By The Associated Press Quite cold air is continuing to flow southeastward into Ohio, bringing chilly temperatures and even a freeze warning for the northwest inland zone for Tuesday night.

Light showers are forecast for northeast Ohio today and the national weather service said this may become mixed with or change to snow flurries later today and tonight.

Early morning temperatures Tuesday were in the 40s. High temperatures today are forecast in the 40s north and in the 50s and low 60s south. Lows tonight are expected to drop to the upper 20s northwest to the upper 30s

Clearing skies appear likely Wednesday but temperatures will continue on the cool side.

A warming trend is forecast Thursday through Saturday. Thursday will be fair with highs in the upper 50s and 60s and lows in the 30s. There will be a chance of thundershowers Friday and Saturday with highs in the 70s and lows in the 50s.

Rail increase requested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads say "an urgent need for additional revenue" is prompting them to request permission for a 10 per cent hike in freight rates.

In a petition Monday to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the industry warned that some major rail carriers "are in immediate danger of ceasing operations because of lack of cash."

While reliance on railroads for freight transportation is increasing, the industry told the ICC, resources to meet that demand "are grossly in-

The railroads said the requested 10 per cent increase, plus a 1 per cent rate hike still pending for eastern and western regions, would produce about $1.6 billion annually.

Of this total, $932 million would be needed to offset increased expenses, taxes and rents, leaving a net increase of $668 million in operating income.

According to the railroads, the boost in net income would result in an industrywide rate of return of 5.27 per cent, less than what the ICC said in a 1971 rate case was an adequate level of

The petition to the ICC said current net earnings "are favorable only in comparison with the deeply depressed levels of other recent years and are significantly lower than the levels of 20

TV fires under study by panel

WASHINGTON (AP) - A New Jersey man whose family was killed in a house fire urged the government today to move with "all deliberate speed" to protect others from television sets that can burn, fatally shock people or explode.

Peter B. Young, who was critically burned in a blaze that claimed his wife, 20-month-old daughter and mother-inlaw, was the lead-off witness at a twoday public hearing before the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

He said it "seems quite likely" to him that a faulty TV set started the fire in his Summit home on the night of Jan. 1. 1973, as well as two succeeding fires in neighboring Roseland and North Caldwell that took 11 more lives.

Young said the commission must develop mandatory federal safety standards for the manufacture of new TV sets and somehow make safe the 45 million sets already in use.

He suggested that the industry be required to place a simple shut-off switch on the cords of old sets across the country and broadcast public

Until the government acts, he said in prepared testimony, "I will stand by my advice to citizens and friends to pull the plug, especially at bedtime, or even any time when the set is not in use."

Zenith and RCA, manufacturers of the sets Young associated with the New Jersey fires, have denied that their products caused the blazes.

New SLA messages treated as real

FBI says it "can't take the chance" that the two latest messages purported to be from the Symbionese Liberation Army are not authentic.

The FBI said it will assume the messages are real because they threaten to kill policemen if SLA members are harmed and because the life of newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst may still be in danger.

The messages, signed by a "General Pax," do not reflect the usual pattern of the terrorist group. They were received Monday by the Sacramento Bee, and said five California peace officers would be executed for any SLA member killed.

The SLA, a group which authorities believe is multiracial, heavily armed and numbers about 25 young men and women, claims responsibility for the Feb. 4 kidnaping of Miss Hearst.

Truckers' use of radios poses problems for FCC

WASHINGTON (AP) - For the men in the big rigs it's a chance to chat, to find out what the roads are like ahead and to warn friends of Smokey Bear.

For some Ohio prostitutes looking for customers among the truckers, it was a means of advertising.

And for police and the Federal Communications Commission, it's a

All this involves short-wave radio carried by truckers, often unlicensed, used by many of them to help avoid state weighing stations and to learn the whereabouts of Smokey Bear - their name for police.

The states want the FCC to crack down on the truckers, creating a dilemma for the federal agency, which can monitor the conversations.

The problem is that it is illegal to divulge information learned in an intercepted radio message, so the FCC isn't sure it can tell state troopers what the truckers are doing.

And the question also has come up whether the state police themselves can monitor the truckers.

The answer may be in a recent decision by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Arizona. It ruled that as a result of the 1968 Crime Control and Safe Streets Act, the Communications Act's prohibition against divulging intercepted conversations does not apply to law enforcement officers.

Citizens band radio, usually called "CB," is reserved for necessary conversation to give all users a chance. The chitchat allowed "ham" amateur operators on other bands is forbidden by the FCC. James C. McKinney, who heads the FCC's field monitoring, said while there is misuse of the radios by some truckers, there are many truckers who use their radios commendably to help others. They pass the word about shutdown and unsafe roads, report accidents and help motorists.

One misuse noted was by prostitutes in Ohio who pulled alongside truckers and broadcast on their frequency: "What you see is what you get

Manhunt for Zebra killer goes on

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Despite mounting protests and court challenges, police are continuing their stop-and-search of young blacks in their hunt for the Zebra killer. More than 435 black men have been stopped since the systematic street questioning began last Wednesday, Police Lt. William O'Connor said Monday. He said police plan to call in 125 reservists to replace desk officers needed for "Operation Zebra," the code-name police have given the case.

About 250 demonstrators, mostly young whites, picketed city hall Monday evening protesting the searches authorized by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. The noisy crowd taunted Alioto as he emerged from the building and pounded his car with their fists.

At noon, about 40 picketers from the Committee Against Racism, a campusbased group, marched in front of city hall chanting "Operation Zebra Must Alioto has defended the dragnet as an extraordinary measure needed to catch "a mad killer." Since last November, 12 whites have been killed and six wounded by a black gunman or gunmen. All were shot apparently without warning or motive.

The American Civil Liberties Union filed a class action suit against city officials Monday on behalf of six young black men, asking a federal court judge to halt the questioning.

City officials also have been called to appear in U.S. District Court Wednesday to answer another suit filed by the NAACP seeking to stop the searches on constitutional grounds.

Police say they are stopping only those blacks who fit descriptions of the Zebra killer given to them by the surviving victims and that most of those stopped have been understanding and cooperative.

But black leaders have denounced the manhunt as harassment, and the NAACP says it has hundreds of complaints from men subjected to the procedure, many of whom claim they bear no resemblance to the killer's description.

Opinion And Comment

A question of definition

For many years the Supreme Court has been engaged in an effort to reconcile the First Amendment and proscription of so-called ob-scenity. The heart of the problem is a matter of definition.

Sometimes, reviewing the court's long struggle with this problem, one gets a vision of dim Herculean figures wrestling endlessly against an opponent that is both strong and slippery.

Yet for all their wrestling the justices have not yet succeeded in satisfactorily defining obscenity or resolving the legal tension between attempted obscenity control and rights of free expression.

The issue is before the court again. Oral arguments have just been heard in two cases growing out of a series of close decisions last June in which the earlier concept of a national obscenity strandard was abandoned in favor of community standards.

The difficulty, as many observers foresaw when those rulings were handed down, is that the court left vague and unresolved the matter of what constitutes a "community" for this purpose, not to mention how supposed community standards are to be arrived at.

One of the two cases now before the court involves the banning of the motion picture, "Carnal Knowledge," in Albany, Ga., on the basis of supposed community standards there. The ban came at a time when this picture - rated "R," incidentally - had already been , viewed by a multitude of Americans

The other case raises a tricky question left undecided in last June's decisions. In essence the question is: In applying the federal law against mailing "obscene" material, what obscenity standards are to be used? Neither of these cases precisely requires a new definition of obscenity for legal purposes; each is mainly concerned with the matter of the standards against which a book or movie or some other form of expression is to be measured.

Still, the root problem continues to be one of definition. It will be interesting to see whether, this time around, the Supreme Court will again address itself to this perplexing question.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Another Balkan war?

In terms of the Wilsonian ideal of ethnic self-determination, Yugoslavia was from the outset in 1918 an ethnographer's nightmare. Basically it consisted of the former independent kingdoms of Serbia and Montenegro and the former Austro-Hungarian provinces of Slovenia and Croatia.

To make life more diverse there were also a significant number of Hungarians, Albanians and Vlachs. If you took a different slice, you discovered Moslems, Roman Catholics and Greek Catholics of several disputatious rites.

You also found both the Roman and the Cyrillie alphabets.

Although theoretically united, there was perpetual bickering between the national groups, led by the Croats and Slovenians who were convinced that they were supporting a welfare program for the less-advanced Serbs. It was commonly stated that King Alexander was the only "Yugoslav." Well, the situation hasn't changed much under the impact of Communism. The Slovenes and the Croats still hate the Serbs (indeed, the Croatian Communist Party was just purged of "petty bourgeois chauvinists").

Communist Bulgaria has never given up hope of incorporating Yugoslav Macedonia, and the Maoite outpost, Albania, has plans for the Yugoslav Albanians.

It is now commonly stated that Josef Broz Tito is the only "Yugoslav."

AND MARSHALL TITO is 82 years old and allegedly suffering from a when he dies?

Immediately you raise that question, the issue of Soviet intentions enters the picture. Specifically, does the "Brezhnev Doctrine," which asserts the Soviet prerogative of maintaining Communist purity in the satellite

He is, for example, well aware of the standard Soviet gambit, which is known to experts as the "Karelian Caper."

In 1939, when Russia invaded Finland, a group of Finnish Communists — who had been kept on ice in Moscow — suddenly appeared in the Karelian border region, announced they were the legitimate government of Finland and asked the Soviets to help them regain power. (The Soviets accepted their invitation, but later put them back on ice.)

This technique was also utilized fruitfully with Poland. But when last employed, in Czechoslovakia, 1968, it

Yet Moscow is persistent and may well be grooming a clutch of Yugoslavs who will call on the Warsaw Pact to prevent the nation from falling into the hands of "reactionaries."

In fact, about a month ago Maj. Gen. Jan Sejna, a Czech defector in 1968, announced in Vienna that the Red Army had a contingency plan, code-named "Polarka," for dealing with "underlined developments" in Yugoslavia after Tito's death. The plan contemplated first, an invasion of Austria; second, invading Yugoslavia from there; and, third, employing Czech troops, thus keeping the Soviet Union out of the direct line of respon-

"POLARKA" sounds fishy to me for the simplest of reasons. Why go from Atlanta to Birmingham via Richmond? The obvious line of attack upon Yugoslavia starts with adjacent Hungary, and if the Soviets want to employ surrogate troops, the Hungarians are there and probably not unwilling to "liberate" their fellow Magyars who have been suffering under Yugoslav revisionist tyranny.

This would have the additional benefit of not automatically involving Britain, France and the United States, who underwrote the 1955 treaty restoring Austrian independence.

In any event, there will be trouble when Tito rejoins his generation. There simply is no Yugoslav elite — instead, there are Serbian, Croatian, Slovenian and, for all I know, Albanian elites.

The only things that hold them together are the charisma of Tito and, not to be neglected, the efficiency of the secret police. Not only is Tito the sole "Yugoslav," but he has completely failed in all efforts to reconcile the various ethnic blocs.

In fact, there is a sense in which one can argue that he trapped himself: after all, if Yugoslavia could raise the banner of "national communism" against the USSR, how could Tito in principle oppose the Croats and Slovenes applying the same thesis to the internal structure of Yugoslavia?

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Recalling the activities of the past two weeks, it becomes increasingly more difficult to fathom the excellent cooperation by so many agencies and individuals that came to the aid of Greene Memorial Hospital on April 3 and the days following the tornado. Despite the havoc many of these saw in the destroyed sectors of Xenia, they came to the hospital eager to console and in a most composed manner.

Not enough can be said for the doctors, nurses, and technicians who came from Xenia and the surrounding counties to help us provide medical attention to the hundreds of injured people brought to our hospital for treatment. But thanks are due also to those agencies and support personnel who brought supplies, conveyed messages and dispatched medical

I ask myself: "Where does one start giving thanks?" Local churches, schools, law enforcement people, nearby hospitals all deserve more credit than I can deliver. The rescue squads, the private citizens, the funeral homes all helped unceasingly by transporting the injured to the hospitals to insure immediate care.

Civil Defense workers, ham radio operators, the public utilities and volunteer messengers were all so vital to the total delivery of emergency care to the injured. It has been so fortunate that Greene Memorial received such help from so many compassionate neighbors.

Sufficient thanks will never be awarded to these agencies and individuals for their unending compassion for human life that I witnessed on that evening. I also congratulate the magnificent performance of all of those employe working at Greene Memorial who remained on the job not knowing the status of their families or nomes.

It's not an experience I, nor anyone involved, wishes to go through again. But, it's a comfortable feeling knowing there are so many individuals and groups who are willing to share the burden of this tragedy which affected so many of our friends.

my counsel."

Dear

ABIGAIL VAN BURE We're all ignorant

on certain subjects

DEAR ABBY: This is concerning the lady who was irate because so few had responded to the R.S.V.P. on her party invitation. I resent your statement that such people are either ignorant or negligent.

I am a university professor with a Ph. D., have traveled extensively in about 20 countries, have attended socials with ambassadors and other notables, so I don't consider myself an ignorant person. Yet, until you printed it in your column, I never was sure of the meaning of R.S.V.P.

As a professor, I have learned that many college students don't know which way the earth rotates, or the difference in time between New York and Denver, so is it realistic to expect them to know the meaning of R.S.V.P.? Or do I have my priorities reversed?
I suggest that if the lady would substitute "Please let us know whether or not you are coming" for "R.S.V.P." on the invitation she would have much better reresponse.

UNDERSTANDING IN COLORADO

DEAR UNDERSTANDING: 1gnorance is simply the absence of knowledge, which is no crime. We are all ignorant on certain subjects. No offense intended.

DEAR ABBY: I have recently had a breast removed following cancer surgery. Please don't misunderstand me. I am glad to be alive and thank God it was discovered in time, but there is another problem: My doctor told me that in my case plastic surgery to re-create a natural looking breast is pos-sible. I was thrilled until I learned that my insurance company takes the view that since the loss of a breast doesn't impair bodily function and is not the result of an accidental injury it is considered cosmetic surgery.

Although a natural-looking artificial breast isn't essential to my physical well-being, it would do wonders for my morale. Or am I just vain? And don't you think this should be covered by insurance?

DEAR MRS. F.: To quote Dr. Eugene W. Worton, a member of The California Society of Plastic Surgeons, and a consultant of mine: "If a woman has a breast removed because of cancer and wants reconstruction so that she can wear a bathing suit or a low-cut dress, that is hardly cosmetic surgery in the sense of a woman having a face lift or a nose operation. This woman has a deformity she acquired as a result of cancer and she wants to return to normal. She is not asking to be the centerfold of Playboy."

ree with Dr. Worton DEAR ABBY: I sew most of my own clothes and am pleased with most of the things I have mad. I attend sewing classes, so the word got around that I make my own clothing. I am annoyed by people who, every time they see me in something new, ask: "Did you make

I think it's rude a question to ask as: "How much did you pay for that dress?

How should I handle this situation without being rude? Please don't tell me that I should be proud that I can sew because I could also be proud to wear an expensive ready-made dress, but I don't want to wear the price tag.

LOVES TO SEW

DEAR LOVES: You can't prevent people from questioning you, but you can change your attitude. The ability to sew something that resembles an expensive ready-made creation is far more deserving of praise than having the money to buy it. Handmade things are more valuable though less costly when made by your own hands, so don't resent the opportunities to crow a little.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - Olympic Refineries Inc., a company with $150,000 in known assets, has plans for a $600 million oil refinery — but so far, no place to build it. After being barred from its first-choice site by the voters of Durham, N.H., Olympic decided to wait for another town near New Hampshire's 18-mile Atlantic coastline to invite the company in. Newmarket, just to the south of Durham, voted last week in favor of the refinery, and the company went back to the drawing board to develop a proposal that would fit there. Rochester, inland and to the north, is to vote May 1 on whether to approve refinery construction there.

Olympic is an Aristotle Onassis corporation, although public records don't show the role of the Greek shipping magnate. The refinery plan has the support of New Hampshire's governor and largest newspaper, but virtually no information is available about its resources or plans.

There are indications Onassis is determined to build an oil refinery, if not in New Hampshire then perhaps in Rhode Island or Louisiana.

"It's like fighting a phantom," said John Gibson, a spokesman for Save Our Shores, a citizens' group opposing the refinery. "They make statements and deny them the next day. They make promises and break them. Sometimes you don't even know who 'they' are."

Constantine G. Gratsos, president of Olympic Refineries, is the chief representative of Onassis interests in New York.

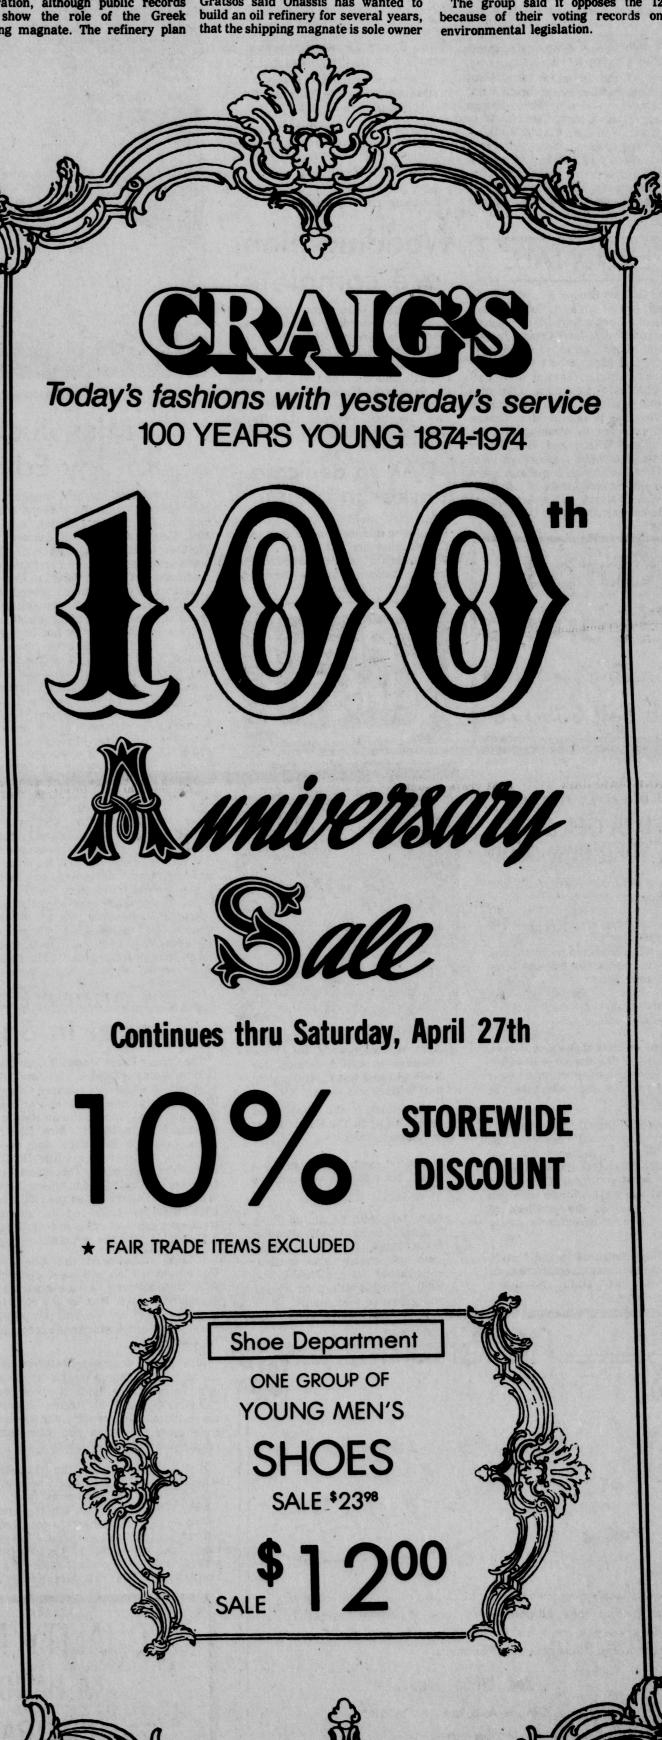

In a recent telephone interview, Gratsos said Onassis has wanted to

of Olympic Refineries stock and that financial information about the company is not available. Then he hung up.

The first inkling of Olympic's activities came last October when a seacoast community weekly, Publick Occurrences, carried a report that land buying was under way on Durham Point. The story mentioned rumors that an oil refinery was planning to locate on the site.

Henley trial slated July 1 in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Elmer Wayne Henley will go on trial here July 1 in the deaths of six of the 27 teen-aged victims of the Texas mass murder

District Court Judge Preston Dial ordered prosecution and defense attorneys to be ready to start jury selection on July 1 and to begin the presentation of testimony on July 8.

The teen-agers were killed in what the state describes as a homosexual torture ring.

In a 20-minute session on Monday, Dial also disposed of nine defense motions. He granted only one.

He refused to move the trial out of San Antonio because of publicity here

— the same reason Henley's trial was transferred from Houston. Instead, he said he would try to pick a jury and grant the change of venue only if he were unable to find 12 unprejudiced persons to serve on it.

He also refused to delay the trial because of publicity.

He granted defense lawyer Will

Gray's motion to question individually all potential jurors who had heard or read about the case.

No trial date has been set for David Owen Brooks, 19, who is charged with four murders in the case.

The state claims Henley and Brooks procured other teenaged males for parties given by Dean A. Corll, 33, which ended in homosexual rape and

To date, 17 counties have been reimbursed $1,217,286.41 for administering and granting homestead exemptions on first half 1973 tax bills, according to Thomas E. Ferguson, deputy state auditor.

Homestead exemptions, provided by state law in 1972, are granted to elderly homeowners semi-annually and based upon the previous year's tax settlements. Senior citizens must file for the exemption with their county auditors by June and December of each year, Ferguson said.

Only homeowners, 65 years of age or older are eligible for homestead exemptions, providing their annual income is less than $8,000.

The exemptions range from 70 per cent of taxable value on property of those who earned under $2,000 the previous year, 60 per cent for income under $4,000, 50 per cent for incomes under $6,000 and 40 per cent for incomes under $8,000.

Ohio Perspective

State cyclists to face new laws

By ROBERT E. MILLER Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ohioans taking up bicycle and motorcycle riding because of the energy crisis almost certainly will face some new traffic laws.

So would automobile drivers and pedestrians under an omnibus bill which has passed the Ohio House and now is pending in the Senate.

House sponsors said there was no way to estimate how many Ohioans may have switched all or in part to motor bike or bicycle use to save gasoline, but they think the number is significant.

Rep. Kenneth R. Cox. D-41 Barberton, said bicycles are one of the hottest selling items on the retail market. Cox, who recently bought a bicycle, helped defend provisions in the bill that he said would help make twowheel travel safer than under present

The bill requires bicycle bells or other audible signals that may be heard up to 100 feet. It also requires an adequate brake for all bikes without a motor, or with a friction-type motor of one horsepower or more.

The fine for not having a bell would be $100 for a first offense. A second conviction could bring a $250 fine and up to 30 days in jail.

The bill prohibits bicycles to use streets and highways if a useable bicycle path has been provided. Bicycles would have to have a front white light and a red taillight or reflector, both visible at 500 feet.

Most present laws would continue to apply to motorcycles. New language would prohibit riding sidesaddle, requiring motorcyclists to ride face forward with one leg on either side of the machine.

For the first time the bill spells out in the law the right of motorcyclists on miltilane highways to pass other motorcycles from another lane when both are going in the same direction.

Ironically the changes were put into the bill not because of the energy crisis, but to meet requirements in the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1966 and subsequent standards adopted by the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Failure to comply could mean loss of the state's federal highway safety funds, said Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, the bill's main sponsor.

Although other provisions are numerous they are generally minor in nature. Laws against driving while intoxicated would remain generally intact, as would speed limits and other major code sections with which Ohioans are most familiar.

Several changes affect pedestrians, including one that makes it illegal to walk on a roadway while intoxicated or under the influence of drugs.

Others require pedestrians to yield to any emergency vehicle with a flashing light, even in a crosswalk, and to yield to all vehicles when not in a crosswalk.

Still another section makes it illegal for a pedestrian to stand on a street or highway "to solicit employment, business or contributions." This section could affect such fund-raising efforts as Columbus' Charity Newsies and others.

The bill permits a motorist to enter an intersection with caution on a yellow signal while a traffic light is changing, but the motorist still may not enter an intersection on red.

Emergency vehicles using flashing lights have to turn at least one on when exceeding a speed limit in response to an emergency call. School buses equipped with red flasher lights could use them only when stopped or stop-

And, for the first time, the bill would make it illegal for a motorist to leave this ignition keys in his parked vehicle. Under present law police may remove such keys, but the owner is not violating the law.

Yastrzemski's bat too much for Royals

Washington C. H. (O.) Record-Herald - Page 8

BOSTON (AP) — Closing in on his 35th birthday, Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox is playing like a spritely kid. He resembles the Yaz who won the American League's Triple Crown in 1967, but he refuses to look

"I'll never forget '67 because I had such a wonderful year and we won the pennant, but there's no sense in looking back," Yaz said Monday night after hitting two homers and a single for three runs batted in in Boston's 4-1 victory over the Kansas City Royals. It was the only game played in the American League. In the lone National League game scheduled Monday night, the Houston Astros blanked the Atlanta Braves 7-0.

Yaz, named team captain by new Manager Darrell Johnson in spring training, is wrecking opposing pitchers. He is batting .360 with six homers and five doubles among his 18 hits in triggering the Red Sox into the AL East lead with a 9-5 record.

His slugging percentage? A whopping .860. And it has resulted in 16 runs batted in. He also leads the Red Sox with 11 runs scored.

Yastrzemski, whose single scored a run in the first inning, drilled a shot over the Boston bullpen into the bleachers in right center for his homer in the sixth. Then, in the eighth, he lined a shot into straightaway center for another homer.

"Yes, I would say that he's swinging a pretty good bat," Boston Manager Darrell Johnson said with a smile after the Red Sox' fourth consecutive victory. "We need him, and he knows it."

Yaz, who will be 35 in August, singled and grounded out against Kansas City starter Nelson Briles. He unloaded the homers against reliever Joe Hoerner, who went looking for another pitch to throw the Boston slugger the next time he faces him.

His third and fourth homers of the season gave him 23 runs batted in, pushing him into the major league lead.

The shutout was Osteen's first with the Astros and 39th of his major league career, ranking him second to the 55 posted by St. Louis ace Bob Gibson among active pitchers.

Expansion talks loom in pro grid meeting

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League, which may lose dozens of players in 1975, begins talking seriously today about the possibility of adding anywhere from one to five teams that year.

The 26 NFL teams, concerned about unresolved negotiations with its players and potential competition from the infant World Football League, begins what is expected to be at least three days of meetings to mull over the granting of franchises to Memphis, Seattle, Phoenix, Tampa and Honolulu. In the last NFL expansion, the Cinicnnati Bengals joined the league in 1968 at a cost of about $8.5 million. This time the entry fee will likely exceed $10 million. If the NFL does decide to expand, the guess is it will add two teams for the 1975 season.

If there are "favorite" and "longshot" roles, they belong to Memphis and Honolulu, respectively, thanks to the emergence of the 12-team WFL, preparing to begin competition in Memphis was originally a part of the WFL's plans - but the city told the league, "thanks ... but no thanks." It said it was holding out for a shot at an NFL team.

But remote Honolulu, affected by scheduling and travel problems stemming from the energy crisis, perhaps further dimmed its NFL prospects by accepting a WFL fran-chise. That created the possibility of an unpredictable legal battle for a limited audience of only 650,000, smallest regional population of the five candidate cities.

Stapleton said his Chicago Cougars "made a lot of stupid mistakes" in the second period of their World Hockey Association playoff game Monday

The Cougars recovered, however, and scored a 4-3 victory over the Toronto Toros to even their best-of-7 semifinal series at one triumph each. The third and fourth games will be played at Chicago Sunday and next Tuesday.

It was the only pro hockey action Monday night. The Minnesota Fighting Saints lead the Houston Aeros 2-1 in the other WHA semifinal, while the Philadelphia Flyers lead the New York Rangers 1-0 and the Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks are tied 1-1 in the National Hockey League semis.

The Cougars, who eliminated the defending champion New England Whalers in the quarter-finals, received four of their six minor penalties in the middle session. But Bob Leduc was the only Toronto player to score with a man advantage, tieing the game 1-1 at 8:55. Toronto, 6-4 winners over Chicago in the series opener last Friday, made it 3-

Metreveli survives scare in pro tennis By The Associated Press

Russian veteran Alex Metreveli survived a scare at the hands of a 17year-old high school student Monday in the opening round of the $50,000 Holton Tennis Classic, a World Championship Tennis Blue Group event.

Jack Gorsuch, who's previous claim to fame was winning the Missouri prep championship last year, surprised the thirdseeded Metreveli 6-3 in the first set. But the 29-year-old Russian rallied to win the last two sets, 6-3, 6-2.

Gorsuch, playing before the home town folks in St. Louis, was competing in his first pro tournament. Unseeded Sid Ball of Australia turned in the day's biggest upset, eliminating fourth-ranked Jiri Hrebec of Czechoslovakia 6-2, 6-4. Danish veteran Torben Ulrich was also ousted in the first round, losing to Australia's Barry PhillipsMoore 6-4, 6-0.

On the women's tour, French veteran Francoise Durr was beaten by in Philadelphia by Japan's Kazuku Sawamatsu in the first round of a $50,000 tournament. Miss Durr won the first set 6-3, but dropped the next two 5-

Miss Sawamatsu, meeting Miss Durr for the first time, won the decisive game with a 5-3 tie-breaker.

Karen Krantzcke defeated Kerry Harris 6-2, 6-1 in a battle of Australians while Americans were plagued by injuries. Fourth-seeded Nancy Gunter dropped out with a pulled stomach muscle and Mona Schallau quit with a pulled hamstring.

TORONTO (AP) - Playercoach Pat 1 on goals within 4:32 by Tom Martin and Wayne Dillon. Martin's goal came just 12 seconds after Leduc tallied.

Then Chicago rallied — a surge capped by rookie Francois Rochon's third-period goal — to even the series.

Ohio girl seeks slot basebal

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Jackie Sigman of Lorain is a girl, and she says that's the only reason she didn't make the city's Little League baseball team.
"I think that I did better than some of the boys out there. And I think I'll take it to court," the spunky sixth grader said Monday. "I don't think we'll go as far as they did in New Jersey and Michigan with lawsuits if Jackie can't play," her mother said. "We couldn't afford to go Program Director Jack Wolf said the only reason Jackie had been allowed to register was to avoid a rumpus. He announced Monday that Jackie hadn't made the team, but didn't say why. 'When I went to register, the man kinda didn't know what to do," Jackie said. "I got mad and told him about the equal rights law passed in Ohio. He signed me up then."

Wolf said last week prior to tryouts that girls had a right to play, but, "I don't want boys and girls playing together." Baseball is a contact sport, a girl could be hurt," he said.

Her father, Jack Sigman, watched Jackie hit a pop fly, a few grounders and several foul tips during tryouts. "She makes contact, but she needs more power," he said.

Florida colt looks good for Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP) — "Around the barn we just call him Clyde," Monti Sims said at Churchill Downs, waving his hand toward Destroyer — the big colt he's training for a Kentucky Derby try.

"That's because he's a big old country horse," Sims said of the Santa Anita Derby winner, a horse that stands about 17 hands (5 feet, 8 inches). "In the Santa Anita Derby he carved out the pace from the start and held it until the stretch when Aloha Mood moved three-quarters of a length ahead," the trainer said. "My colt dug in, fought back and won by a head.'

The Florida-bred son of Vitriolic out of a Nashua mare has a good chance in the 100th Run for the Roses on May 4 if the track is right, Sims added Monday.

The annual dinner meeting of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association was held at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church Monday night.

Mrs. John Summers, executive director of the South Central Ohio Lung Association, was the guest speaker.
Mrs. Summers spoke of the reorganization of the former tuberculosis and respiratory disease associations by consolidation.

These organizations have united under the banner of "Lung Associations" in order to give the public a better understanding of the direction of their programs and services which are directly concerned with diseases and problems of the lungs.

The Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association will be one of six counties consolidating to form the South Central Ohio Lung Association. The other five counties are Ross, Pickaway, Pike, Jackson and Lawrence.

Mrs. Summers, as executive director, will maintain an office in Chillicothe.

MRS. ROBERT GOODSON, former executive secretary for the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, will be the program associate of the new organization. She will be working with the schools, health departments, hospitals, physicians, nurses and organizations in Fayette and Pickaway counties in all types of Judge Evelyn W. Coffman sentenced Jack E. Stewart Jr., 328 Fountain St., to a term of 5-25 years in the Reformatory following a hearing in Common Pleas Court for probation violation in connection with a petty larceny complaint filed by the Washington C. H. Police Department.

Stewart was arrested by Police Specialist Dennis Brown March 27 after a bicycle stolen from the property of Martha Keeton, 705 E. Paint St., was found at Stewart's residence. The bicycle, which had been repainted, was stolen sometime between March 20-25.

He was placed on probation by Judge Coffman Jan. 25 for breaking and entering. It was a five-year probation Stewart was charged with the Dec. 31 locket that had a picture of his deceased father inside. Stewart also was charged with the Dec. 20 burglary of Mrs. Martha Reiff's residence, 404 Rawlings St.

BancOhio reports income

COLUMBUS - BancOhio Corp. reports that, for the first three months of 1974 ending March 31, consolidated income before securities gains (losses) totaled $4,806,563 or $.66 per average common share.

In spite of the continuing adverse relationship between interest rates earned on assets and interest rates paid on borrowed funds, earnings per common share increased from $.61 reported for the fourth quarter of 1973, as well as increasing from the favorable results of $.65 achieved during the first quarter of 1973 or a total of $4,740,582.

Consolidated net income, after securities gains (losses), for the first quarter of 1974 was $4,503,680 or $.62 per average common share which compares to $4,674,803, or $.64 per share for the same period in 1973. Earnings per share have been computed on the average shares outstanding in each period which were 7,302,628, adjusted for the four per cent stock dividend paid in December 1973.

Total loans continued to show a substantial increase from figures reported a year ago, reaching $1,573,028,434 on March 31, 1974 compared with $1,312,986,815 on the same

Hospital personnel TB seminar slated May 2

A seminar for hospital personnel dealing with the admission and treatment of tuberculosis patients will be held May 2 in the Mead Room of the Holliday Inn, Chillicothe.

The seminar is being sponsored by the South Central Ohio Lung Association, serving Fayette Pickaway, Ross, Pike, Jackson and Lawrence counties, and the Ohio Department of Health. The agencies are undertaking a major re-education program for the personnel.

Many specialized TB care facilities are being closed and patients who need hospitalization are now being treated in general hospitals. As a result, more TB training for hospital workers is needed.

Reservations must be made with the South Central Ohio Lung Association, 121 W. Main St., Chillicothe. The registration fee is $3.50 per person, and reservations must be made by Friday.

finessed the eight after West followed low.

East took the jack - he could have saved a trick by ducking and returned a spade. Eventually South scored ten tricks consisting of four hearts, two spades, two diamonds and two clubs.

But West could have beaten the contract by playing the queen on the first heart lead. To do so could not cost him a trick. If South had the jack, dummy's five hearts were all tricks, while if East had the jack, the queen play might hold dummy to two tricks.

Declarer could not have recovered from the queen play. Restricted to two tricks in each suit, he inevitably would have failed.

It is true that a defender usually follows low when he is second-hand and rarely plays a high card in order to force a higher one from dummy. But here the queen is clearly the right play. West can easily assume that if he plays low on the first heart lead declarer will also play low from dummy.

It follows from this that if it is South with the ten. With only to declarer's advantage to play eight tricks in sight, it was the eight after West plays the obvious to declarer that his five, it must be correspondingly most promising source for a disadvantageous for West to ninth lay in hearts. House damaged by funnel cloud

SHELBY, Ohio (AP)—A funnel cloud dipped down briefly Monday, tearing the back porch off a house here, police

The porch, from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Lewis, was blown over the house and landed in the front yard, authorities said.

Crawford, Richland and Ashland counties were under a tornado alert until 8:15 p.m. The U.S. Weather Service said a storm weakened and blew out of Richland County to the northeast. Much of eastern Ohio was under a severe thunderstorm alert, but no other damage was reported.

Solons urge normal relations with Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) - Legislation aimed at normalizing relations with Cuba was proposed Monday by Reps. Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Ohio, Joel Pritchard of Washington, and Alphonzo Bell and Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California.

The four congressmen said in a joint statement that the "climate on both sides of the Caribbean Sea today is one leading toward cooperation rather than alienation."

The proposed measure would remove the prohibition against providing economic aid to Cuba and countries that trade with Cuba. However, present restrictions on military assistance would remain.

Now and then we see some photos that have that something

- call it IMPACT - that makes them stand out. The picture stops you cold. Know what I mean? I guess that's one of the rewards of our business. We see these pix, talk to the lensmen that make such pictures and hear their stories. I don't see why anyone would want to be in any other business.

What is it that makes a picture a stopper? I guess it goes back to the photographer, himself; his philosophy, his feeling for the subject. Photos are made by people, not cameras. Now I'll admit that a camera like the PENTAX ES can free the lensman from the mechanical chores of setting exposure once told me that after fifty years of making pictures with a camera, he never shot a roll of film that he didn't learn something.

At CKFN last week we were working toward the 1974 Fayette County Fair photo exhibit. NOW is the time to work on the pix for the fair. The winners will be those photos that have IMPACT. This year your picture may be the winner. But you can't win if you don't

Dr. Heiny named to area board

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday appointed a Washington C.H. physician to serve on the five-county Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board.

Dr. Robert A. Heiny, 716 Park Drive, was named to a six-year term on the board which serves Fayette, Highland, Ross, Pickaway and Pike counties.

Dr. Heiny, who maintains his office at 616 Willard Street with Dr. Ralph Gebhart, replaces Dr. James E. Rose, 120 River Rd., whose term has expired.

The board also granted a one-day extension to Charles P. Wagner, Fayette County engineer, for presentation of construction profiles on the Indian Creek ditch project in Wayne Township.

Commissioners were scheduled to meet with Wagner to review the construction profiles Tuesday afternoon.

In other matters, the commissioners authorized O.M. Riegel, director of the Fayette County welfare department, to attend the Ohio Welfare Directors workshop committee meeting being held in Columbus today.

Ex-college chief dies

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Dr. David Morgan, 65, a former president of Texas A&M University, died Sunday. He headed the school at College Station from 1953 to 1957. He retired in January after working 17 years for Dow with a Dayton Power and Light Co. utility pole.

The incident, which did moderate damage to the car and slight damage to the pole, occurred at 6:20 p.m. Monday.

ACCIDENTS investigated by city police Monday were:

7:57 a.m. — A collision involving cars driven by Ronald L. Farmer, 32, of 1023 N. North St., and Steven L. Southworth, 17, of 1058 Jamison Rd., at the intersection of Oakland Avenue and N. North Street. The Farmer vehicle was moderately damaged.

9:21 a.m. — A truck driven by David Lee Seitz, 26, Greenfield, struck and broke off a fire hydrant at the corner of

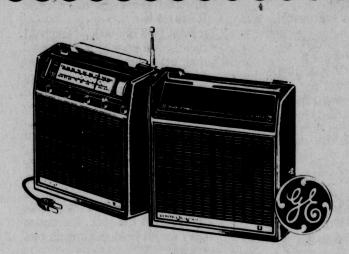

Clinton and Oakland avenues. The Seitz truck also hit a fence post and rail when the driver miscalculated

9:38 a.m. - Moderate damage to cars driven by David Lee Lindsey, 26, of 1032 Yeoman St., and Charles Jay Schwart, 20, of 819 N. North St., in the Hidy market parking lot, Columbus Avenue, when they collided.

2:40 p.m. — A three-car accident at the intersection of Delaware Street and Columbus Avenue when a truck driven by Daniel Lee Preston, 19, Clarksburg, slid into the rear of a stopped car operated by Mark R. Aleshire, 18, of 828 Millwood Ave., which in turn was forced into the rear of the car ahead of his, driven by Elizabeth Lee Hartman, 17, Prairie Rd.

Damage was slight to the Preston truck and moderate to the other two cars involved.

5:30 p.m. - A car driven by Ralph N. Agle, 81, Jeffersonville, struck a parked car owned by Dorothy Y. Hanes, 36, of 864 Church St., as he pulled from a private drive beside 317 Main St., onto Main Street when the Hanes auto was parked. Damage was

(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 15)

JOINT RESOLUTION Proposing to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and proposing to enact section 20a of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to equalize the compensation of public officers and members of the General Assembly.

the General Assembly.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, threefifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and a proposal to enact section 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE II

Section 20. The General Assembly, in cases not provided for in this constitution, shall fix by law the term of office and the compensation of all public officers; but no change therein shall affect the compensation of any officer during his existing term, unless the office be abolished; provided, however, that if an officer elected to the same office from the same district on taking office receives a greater compensation, such rate of compensation, such rate of compensation shall thereupon be payable to each of the other officers holding the same office in that district.

An officer who is appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office shall not be entitled to receive more compensation than any elected officer holding the same office in the same district is receiving at the time such appointed officer takes office.

Section 31. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall time such appointed officer takes office.

Section 31. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall receive a fixed compensation, to be prescribed by law, and no other allowance or perquisites, either in the payment of postage or otherwise; and no change in their compensation shall take effect during the legislative biennium within which it was made.

Section 20a. Notwithstanding Section 20 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio, any increase in compensation fixed by the General Assembly for any public officer, which, because of its being made during his term of office, does not become payable to such officer until after two years from the date of its enactment, shall nevertheless become effective and payable on and after the effective date of the enactment of such increase in compensation.

SCHEDULE The secretary of state shall place upon the ballot as separate issues the proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and the proposal to enact sections 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of Ohio, so as to permit the electorate to yote separately on each such proIf a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendments, at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, adopt the same, they shall become part of the Constitution of the State of Ohio and existing sections 20 and 31 of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio shall be repealed.

(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 61) JOINT RESOLUTION

To amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for preparation of the language which appears on the ballot when the General Assembly proposes a constitutional amendment so that it will properly identify the substance of the proposal, to provide procedures for timely challenges to the adoption and submission of such amendments, and to assure information to the voters about such amendments.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at a special election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XVI

Section 1. Either branch of the general assembly may propose amendments to this constitution; and, if the same shall be agreed to by three-fifths of the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays, and shall be filed with the secretary of state at least ninety days before the date of the election at which they are to be submitted to the electors, for their approval or rejection. They shall be submitted on a separate ballot without party designation of any kind, at either a special or a general election as the general assembly may prescribe.

tion as the general assembly may prescribe.

The ballot language for such proposed amendments shall be prescribed by a majority of the Ohio ballot board consisting of the secretary of state and four other members, who shall be designated in a manner prescribed by law and not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. The ballot language shall properly identify the substance of the proposal to be voted upon. The ballot need not contain the full text nor a condensed text of the proposal. The board shall also prepare an explanation of the proposal, which may include its purpose and effects, and shall certify the ballot language and the explanation to the secretary of state not later than seventy-five days before the election. The ballot language and the explanation shall be available for public inspection in the office of the secretary of state.

The supreme court shall have exclusive, original jurisdiction in all cases challenging the adoption or submission of a proposed constitutional amendment to the electors. No such case challenging the ballot language, the explanation, or the actions or procedures of the general assembly in adopting and submitting a constitutional amendment shall be filed later than sixty-four days before the election. The ballot language shall not be held invalid unless it is such as to mislead, deceive, or defraud the voters.

Unless the general assembly otherwise provides by law for the preparation of arguments for and, if any, agains? a proposed amendment, the board may prepare such arguments.

Such proposed amendments, the

if any, agains? a proposed amendment, the board may prepare such arguments.

Such proposed amendments, the ballot language, the explanations, and the arguments, if any, shall be published once a week for three consecutive weeks preceding such election, in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county of the state, where a newspaper is published. The general assembly shall provide by law for other dissemination of information in order to inform the electors concerning proposed amendments. An election on a proposed constitutional amendment submitted by the general assembly shall not be enjoined nor invalidated because the explanation, arguments, or other information is faulty in any way. If the majority of the electors voting on the same shall adopt such amendments the same shall become a part of the constitution. When more than one amendment shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment, separately.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect and existing Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed.

I, TED W. BROWN, Secretary of State, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 15 and Amended House Joint Resolution No. 61, filed in the office of the Secretary of State, proposing to amend the Constitution of Ohio.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my official seal at Columbus this 1st day of March, 1974.
